Reduction Made In Coal-Burning Railway Service

Supports Draft
Says Forces Need Men

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Forrestal indicated today that the armed forces want to add more than 250,000 men to their strength, but did not say how many more. He said a draft is the only way to get them.

Forrestal was before the Senate Armed Services Committee supporting President Truman's plan for a revival of the draft and for universal military training. He told the senators he will approve recommendations for increases in the authorized strength of the army, navy and air forces, but would not make public the figures.

The "authorized strength" of each service is a "ceiling" Congress has put on the number of men it can have. The present "ceiling" for army, air force, navy and marines adds up to 1,332,000 men. Actually, they have 1,392,000 men.

Brigham Property Purchased by East Kingston Brick Company Was Organized in 1891 to Produce Bricks; Consists of 'Many Acres'

The East Kingston Brick Company, Inc., has purchased the adjoining property of the Brigham Brick Corporation. It was announced today by Harold S. Brigham. He did not reveal the purchase price.

The East Kingston company is already in possession of the property and is in operation at both places, Brigham said. The former Brigham property consists of "many acres and buildings and a great deal of equipment," he said.

At present about 20 men are employed in each of the yards under Frank Mooney, plant manager. He said that full operation of the yards would have to wait until the ice goes out of the river and boats are able to operate to the docks. It is expected at that time that about 150 men will be employed.

The Brigham yard was in operation last season for the shipping of bricks only and did not manufacture any bricks, Brigham said. The company was founded in 1891 by Henry R. and William H. Brigham as Brigham Brothers. It was incorporated in 1945 with Harold S. Brigham, son of Henry R. Brigham, as president.

Charles Rovigno of New Jersey is president of the East Kingston company.

Seven Crews Patch Holes in Streets; Damage Is Severe

Seven crews of men are being kept busy filling holes in Kingston streets, Assistant Superintendent Max J. Oppenheimer of the Board of Public Works said this morning.

Because of the fact that the temperature drops below freezing at night, it is only possible to put in temporary fillings of dirt at this time, Oppenheimer said, and these fillings wash away during the day in many cases. However, the men are attempting to keep the most dangerous of the holes filled to prevent damage to automobiles.

As soon as the danger of frost is just, the public works department will begin filling and repaving the streets with more permanent material, he said. Preparations are now being made for that work.

The streets have been severely affected by the long period of sub-zero temperatures this winter, followed by the thaw. Police have received reports from every section of the city about the bad condition of the streets.

At 11:13 p. m. Wednesday, Harry Krum of 611 Abel street told police he broke an axle on his car when it struck a hole in Abel street near Hamilton street. Earlier the same day someone reported a hole "big enough to put a barrel in" on Greenkill avenue near Broadway.

Woman Is Killed More Than 100 Are Hurt When Floor Collapses in Chicago

Chicago, March 18 (AP)—One woman was killed and more than 100 persons were injured last night when a large section of a third-floor dance hall collapsed under the weight of about 500 persons attending a St. Patrick's Day celebration.

Twelve of the 92 persons who were treated at six hospitals were reported in from serious to critical condition. Several other persons were given first aid treatment at the scene.

The dance and party, attended by men, women and children, was on the top floor of a three-story brick building at 3239 North Clark street near the busy intersection of Clark street and Belmont avenue. It was sponsored by the Copraught Men's Social Club.

Congress Is Split Over Defenses

Military Training, Draft Plans Proposed by Truman Are Source of Differences

Lashes at Wallace

President Flails Third Party Candidate in New York Talk

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Congress split down the middle today on President Truman's plans for shoring up the nation's military strength with universal training and revival of the draft. Party labels were lost in the shuffle as leaders divided over the two measures Mr. Truman said are needed to flex the muscles of a country that has become "the principal protector of the free world" against Communism.

The upshot seemed to be a trend toward giving the President one—but not both—of the manpower raising laws. Universal military training looked like slightly the better bet although the cards are stacked against U.M.T. in the House right now.

As a third step to halt the aggressive march of "one nation"—Russia—Mr. Truman also called for quick and final approval of the $5,300,000,000 Marshall Plan for European recovery.

The Senate already has passed its bill, and within four hours of the President's address to Congress, the House Foreign Affairs Committee stamped its okay on a similar program.

The Chief Executive told a New York St. Patrick's Day banquet audience last night that the big issue now is "military versus freedom."

"Our faith and our strength," he said, "must be made unmistakably clear to the world."

Bluntly, Mr. Truman accused Russia of trying to sabotage the peace and of seeking to bring all of Europe under Communist sway.

The still-free nations that remain, the President said, this country must support with its full strength—"military, economic and moral."

And he said—as he had earlier in the day to a joint session of Congress—that this nation must be strong to keep the peace. He warned against "the insidious propaganda that peace can be obtained solely by wanting peace."

"We will have to take risks during the coming year—risks perhaps greater than any this country has been called upon to assume," he declared. "But they are not risks of our own making and we cannot make the danger vanish by pretending that it does not exist."

"We must be prepared to meet that danger with sober self-restraint and calm and deliberate action if we are to be successful in our leadership for peace."

Mr. Truman used different words before Congress: "We must be prepared to pay the price of peace, or assume it we shall pay the price of war."

In that address, the President made only minor changes as he went along.

Ellenville May Get $101,000 for Its Municipal Airport

Federal Funds Provided in House-Approved Bill; Measure in Senate

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Sixteen New York state airports stand a good chance of getting a total of $2,387,500 in federal money to improve their facilities.

It is included in a house-approved $37,392,000 appropriation for the Civil Aeronautics Administration's program of federal aid to airports, for the year beginning July 1.

The measure is now before the Senate.

To get their share, the airports would need only to match, or slightly better in some cases, the federal grant.

All of the projects have C.A.A. approval, which means that work could start as soon as funds were available.

Among the projects, including total cost (with the federal aid in brackets), and a description of the work proposed, are:

Ellenville, Municipal Airport: $101,000 ($45,000); acquire land; construct east-west strip 2,700 feet by 300 feet with necessary clearing and grading, apron access road.

Albany, Municipal Airport: $400,000 ($200,000); complete grading; install high intensity lighting; build one new runway, including drainage, taxiways, plane apron.

New York, La Guardia Field: $1,300,000 ($650,000); evacuation, fill and grading to extend east-west runway 2,600 feet. Rehabilitation of existing utilities, including construction of pile-supported pipe trench for final installation. Rehabilitation of existing terminal.

Illits at Wallace

But in talking to the St. Patrick's Day dinner in New York, he made no reference to his departure when he lashed out by name at Henry Wallace, the third party presidential candidate.

After asserting that "we must beware of those who are devoting themselves to sowing the seeds of disunity among our people," the Chief Executive declared: "I do not want and I will not accept the political support of Henry Wallace and his Communists."

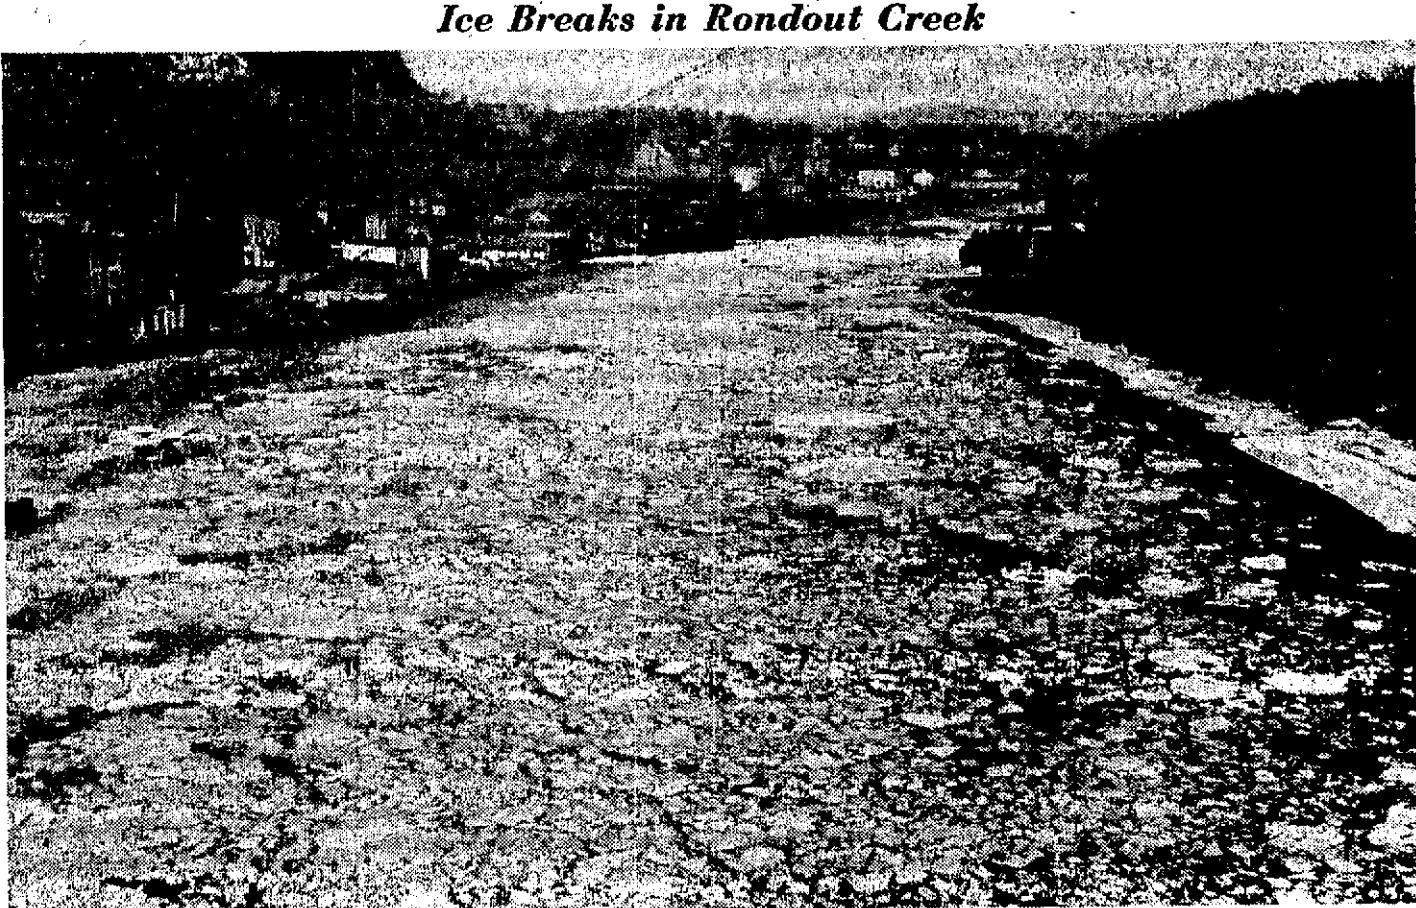

"If joining them or permitting them to join me is the price of victory, I recommend defeat. These are days of high prices for everything. But any price for Wallace and his Communists is too much for me to pay."

There was no immediate reply.

Dinner Club Speaker Tells Need for World Brotherhood

"Either be brotherly or we are going to be dead," was the alternative for humanity given by Col. John D. Craig, thrill photographer and adventurer in his talk at Kingston National Dinner Club Wednesday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Col. Craig brought movies of the Bikini Atom Bomb Tests to illustrate his talk. He was designated by the government in charge of motion picture photography at "Operations Crossroads," the official name of the test.

"We have a very short time, less than three years left now, to decide which way we are going to go," Colonel Craig said last night in emphasizing the import of atomic energy control.

"The problem is an educational problem," the speaker continued. "How can we convince these nations and leaders who are in control of vast numbers of people who have no voice in their government? How can we convince those leaders how serious this thing is?"

He explained the era of atomic energy as the third great step in human development, the first being the evolution of inventive memory and the transfer of thought and knowledge to other men; the second being the creation of fire which led to the chemical age in which mankind has been living.

Speaking of the possibilities of atomic energy, Col. Craig said, "Mankind has in his hands what we thought was only in the realm of the Almighty—creation of matter."

526 at Bard Plan Panel Hear White Stress 6 Factors

Time to Be Limited For Bard Plan Talks

Because of the increasing number of questions arising at each session of the Bard Plan for Small Business at Kingston High School, the time to be allotted speakers will be cut considerably, a member of the planning committee announced today.

The main address of the evening will be held to approximately 25 minutes. This will give the moderator time to receive questions from the floor and will give more time for replies to specific problems.

Questions may be submitted in advance of the panels by addressing them to the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston.

U.S. Commerce Leader Calls Sessions Unique in America; Moore, Ehlman Speak

Intelligent management with emphasis on modern trends was held essential to the success of small business in a lecture by Dr. Wilford White, chief, management division, Office of Small Business, U.S. Department of Commerce, at the third session in the Bard Plan for Small Business in the high school auditorium last night.

An attendance of 526 won special commendation from Dr. White, who described the panels as unique in the entire nation and announced that it probably would result in a specially published survey in his department.

Other participants in the session on "How to Plan a Management and Financial Program for Business," were Donald A. Moore, executive vice-president of the Poughkeepsie Trust Company and former secretary of the New York State Bankers' Association; Waldo Ehlman, bureau of distribution, New York State Department of Commerce; Pratt Boice, president of the Ulster County Savings Institution, and Louis B. Steketee, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, who acted as chairman.

Problems of a proprietor or manager of a small business, said Dr. White, "fall easily into two groups, those over which he has little or no control, or those over which he does have control."

Sometimes Not Aware

Management, he stressed, is sometimes not aware of the needs of its customers, of business trends "and does not keep up on technological and management changes in its particular trade or industry."

Dr. White in presenting his "ideas of a practical management program," stressed six major factors: The number of business firms, including small business; the importance of management; the point of view of your customers; the forces which are changing the buying habits of your customers; specific management problems—long run and current; and sources of information.

It is estimated, he said, that the nation had 3,870,000 individual businesses at the end of 1947. This, he stressed, is almost a half million more than existed at the peak of prosperity before World War 2, and slightly above a million more than at the low point during the war.

Since nine out of 10 businesses

Firemen Entertain 1,500 at Their Ball

Patrons Are Well Pleased With Stage Show and Lawrence Music

The hub of all the St. Patrick's Day celebrating in the city last night was at the municipal auditorium, where the first annual ball of the Kingston Uniformed Firemen's Association, 461, was given in their praise of more than 1,500 people who enjoyed five stellar acts of vaudeville and the music of Elliott Lawrence and his band.

Although there were many events in observance of the major Irish holiday, the box office did a rushing business and those who filled the spacious hall were high in their praise of the "men with the ladder and the hose" as versatile fellows who can turn from standing guard as protectors of life and property to promoting a high calibre social event.

Receive Praise

Alderman-at-Large Charles J. Turck, representing Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, absent because of illness, voiced the official sentiments lauding the firemen for their efforts on promoting the ball and their record as public servants.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy added his endorsement, crediting his men for their efficiency.

The two speakers were introduced by President Albert Hutton, who welcomed the large assemblage and thanked them for supporting the ball.

Featuring the young music of Elliott Lawrence and his new band sensation, the program moved along swiftly starting with a concert at 8:20 p. m. The vaudeville

Completion By 1950 Is Anticipated

State Will Operate Million-Dollar Site Near Pine Hill on Route 28

Dwarfs Whiteface

Area Development Was Proposed by Wicks in '46 Bill

By HARRY O'DONNELL
Albany, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—Work will start soon on a $1,000,000 state ski development on Belleayre mountain, deep in the Catskills, a Conservation Department source said today.

The project, for which a ski lodge, several power-lifts and automobile parking facilities are planned, will be New York's largest when completed, probably in 1950, he added.

It will be set up in northwestern Ulster county, about 40 miles northwest of Kingston.

The bill was presented two years ago in the Senate by Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of Kingston, and Assemblyman Reaux of Warren county offered the measure in the Assembly.

The exact layout, somewhere near Pine Hill (on Route 28), will be decided after ski experts and engineers make a final survey, next month if the weather "breaks."

Grading in June

Rough grading and other preliminary work might get under way by June, the department informant added.

Similar surveying probably will be started this spring, he said, on another layout, expected to involve ski trails only, near North Creek in Warren county. This project, on Gore, South and Pete Gay mountains, will add a full-scale private development in the area, it was said.

The conservation spokesman, who declined the use of his name, said the Belleayre development would be a down-state counterpart of the big Whiteface mountain ski project, near Lake Placid in the upper Adirondacks.

He predicted the Belleayre project would probably be larger than Whiteface, an estimated $750,000 development, which will open next winter, it was scheduled to open this year but final construction was delayed by the steel shortage.

The Conservation Department plans to run the Belleayre project, it was said. A special Whiteface Mountain Authority controls that project.

The Warren county project will be located on state forest preserve land, which means the state may not lease or otherwise assign it to private interests, according to the attorney general.

Most of the Belleayre project likewise will be forest preserve land although, it has been reported, the ski lodge and possibly the ski-lift power plants might be located on what is now privately-owned property.

The Conservation Department source, however, indicated such land would be purchased by the state and added to the forest preserve.

Approved by Voters

Because the State Constitution decrees that forest preserve lands

Wallkill River Overflows; Ice Is Holding in Hudson

Ice Jam Exists at Mouth of Rondout; Greenkill Flats Covered by Ice

The waters of the Wallkill river rose rapidly Wednesday and backed up behind ice flows near Springtown, closing the Springtown-New Paltz road to traffic along a low stretch bordering the river. This condition usually exists for a time each spring when the ice goes out of the Wallkill river.

There was also an ice jam reported at the Rondout light station, probably not as large than the one at the mouth of the Rondout creek this morning. The jam, caused by ice being prevented from leaving the creek because the ice in the Hudson river has not yet started to move out, extends back about 100 feet from the light-house, and contains a number of trees and other debris.

Official Arrested

C.I.O. Leader Is Booked as Disorderly During Plant Picketing

New York, March 18 (AP)—An official of the C.I.O. United Packinghouse Workers was arrested yesterday as union pickets attempted to halt delivery of meat from struck plants by sitting down in front of trucks.

The outdoor sit-down tactics were employed in front of the Swift & Co. plant in Brooklyn and the Armour & Co. packinghouse on Tenth avenue in Manhattan.

Don Smith, union field representative, was arrested at the Brooklyn plant and booked on a disorderly conduct charge. Smith was arraigned and paroled in the custody of his lawyer for a hearing March 29.

Police ended the sitdowns in front of the Manhattan packinghouse without making arrests.

LeFevre Sees Good Recovery Growing From Marshall Plan

Congressman Jay LeFevre has expressed an opinion that "a good European recovery program" will finally come out of discussions on the Marshall plan which have been going on before the Senate and House and he states that "the number of dollars involved doesn't mean too much if we accomplish what we are after," prevention of a third world war.

In a news letter to The Freeman, Congressman LeFevre states "we had all hoped and prayed that the United Nations would be the medium through which all international disputes could be settled. With Russia objecting to every important move advanced by the United Nations, our faith is weakening."

"Either Russia must get out and the combined efforts of the remaining nations become effective or we as a nation must arm to the teeth, so our decisions and voice at any peace table will be effective," Congressman LeFevre writes.

Congressman LeFevre, since representing the 30th Congressional District, has written "news letters" for the benefit of his constituents from time to time in which he has discussed activities going on in Washington and which affect the people of this district. As a member of the House Committee on Public Lands, Congressman LeFevre has been busy during the present session with activities of that committee. Recently in an issue of "Colliers" appeared an article relative to the activities of that committee. During the 80th Congress the committee has handled 102 bills which have become law. In addition, 31 bills have been passed by the House and are now before the Senate, and 17 additional bills are still before the House. Eight bills have been vetoed and six bills are now on the desk of President Truman awaiting approval.

In his news letter to the people of the 30th District, Congressman LeFevre writes:

The Marshall Plan is getting the headlines here in Washington right now, and since the Senate disposed of this important matter Saturday night they have promised to take up their finance committee's version of the Knutson tax bill. The House passed the Knutson bill some time ago, which would reduce 1948 taxes by 6.5 billion. The Senate finance committee has approved a bill to reduce taxes by 4.8 billion. Just a few changes in the rate reductions made this difference in the final result. I believe we can surely expect an increase in personal exemptions from $500 to $600 and the provision extending the split income privilege to married couples in all states. To those people who have reached the age of 65, an extra $600 exemption will be granted. Blind persons will be given a $600 exemption and if a person is both 65 or older and blind he may take both reductions. Opponents of this legislation would try to make our people believe that this tax measure is a rich man's tax bill. If passed as proposed, it is estimated 70.5 per cent of the reduction or 3.2 billion would go to persons with incomes of $5,000 and under, after deductions, but before personal exemptions. Should the President decide to veto this tax bill, it is believed the Congress would have votes enough to override it.

The accelerated Russian drive for the control of Europe has had two opposite reactions here among members of Congress. Some members are urging immediate passage of the Marshall Plan and others believe we should wait. They fear that Stalin will skillfully maneuver his strategy to move in after we have poured in millions to the various countries setting up new industries, rebuilding old ones and thus receive the benefits. The Communists taking over Czechoslovakia was apparently not too much of a surprise to those who visited that country this past summer. Those men felt that Czechoslovakia was pretty much Communist controlled. Of course, it is not one of the 16 nations we plan to help under the Marshall Plan. Now there is much speculation on what might happen to Italy. The Communists hope to win the election to be held there on April 18 and thus take it over "legally."

I visited Italy in 1945 and unless things have greatly changed, I can't believe these people, on their own free will, will vote a Communist government in power. In fact we are banking on the people in the countries that we plan to aid, resisting the Communist minority, having already suffered too much at the hands of the dictators.

I believe a good European Recovery Program will finally come out of all these discussions in the Senate and House combined. The number of dollars involved doesn't mean too much if we can accomplish what we are after. We hope to stop a ruinous third world war. We had all hoped and prayed that the United Nations would be the medium through which all international disputes could be settled. With Russia objecting to every important move advanced by the United Nations, our faith is weakening. Either Russia must get out and the combined efforts of the remaining nations become effective or we as a nation must arm to the teeth, so our decisions and voice at any peace table will be effective. To hold our position as the leading nation in the world, I see no other course. I am well aware that there are those who disapprove of that philosophy. I am well aware of the sacrifices this means along with the terrific costs involved. Without a doubt, every constituent of mine deplores even the thought of another war. We can't conceive of the bloodshed and the disaster that would accompany an atomic war. These are the very reasons that lead me to believe that "adequate" military strength is the only thing today that will stop this aggression by Russia. These opposed to preparedness are, I believe, very sincere and tell us that history proves that those nations that have always been prepared were usually the first to get in a fracas. But today, even some of those military authorities they quote, tell us under prevailing circumstances we have to have an "adequate" military establishment. Granting that, then the determination of what is "adequate" is the essential decision.

Military authorities here have testified that an "adequate" peacetime military force would mean 4½ million men under arms. They state the cost of this would be prohibitive. They then proposed the universal military training program. The House Committee on Armed Services reported H.R. 4278, the bill to enact national security training, known as the U.M.T. bill, but as yet, no action has been taken on the floor of the House. This bill provides for the training of 850,000 young men annually, at an estimated cost of $1,750,000 per year. The trainees must have 6 months of continuous training which would be known as the first phase of the program. To complete the program, known as the 2nd phase, the trainee would have his choice of several different methods ranging from 6 months to six years depending upon his voluntary selection. ### CIRCULAR PATH

The case of Czechoslovakia before the United Nations reveals in sharp focus some of the technical problems to be overcome in giving an organization of nations powers and rules which will make it effective.

The chief of the Czechoslovakian delegation to the United Nations filed a complaint against Russia and a demand that the Communist coup d'état in his homeland be investigated by the Security Council. The decision of the United Nations secretary-general that the delegate's letter did not come from the government of Czechoslovakia means that the complaint will be ignored, unless some other member nation renews the demand for investigation.

The United Nations will not listen to the delegate's voice because his government did not specifically order him to speak. Since his government now is under the complete control of the power complained against, obviously it will never instruct the delegate to ask an investigation. The closed circle is evident. A small nation which is suddenly overpowered by a greater nation finds the doors of the United Nations slammed in its face.

Therein lies one of the many constitutional weaknesses which must be overcome if the United Nations is to mean anything to the world.

FARM LIFE DANGERS

When one considers the number of hazards which make city life dangerous and exciting, farm life seems, on the face of it, to have few if any perils. According to statistics, however, in a nine-year period covered by a survey 38,700 farmers were killed while at work, 133,200 farm residents met violent deaths, and 10,125,000 non-fatal farm-home accidents occurred.

The farmer uses dangerous machinery of great potential power, and is often unfamiliar with its intricacies. Unlike the factory owner, he is not required by law to adopt safety devices, and often disregards the most common rules of safety. As a result, arms are chewed off by corn-pickers, legs are lost in collisions with reapers, and carelessness causes falls from trees, sheds, haylofts and barn roofs. Insurance men say that a farmer's chances of being killed or injured while at work are much greater than those in any other line of work.

Farmers are very important people, without whom the world would starve. It behooves them, therefore, to read and follow the directions which come with their powerful machinery, and to watch their steps on high places.

It won't be long now before the country is again subjected to regulations, and the blue-uniformed chief regulator of them all shouts "Play ball!"

YOUNG MOVIE-GOERS

A survey made in a midwestern suburb showed that an average of 80 per cent of children in the upper elementary and junior high school grades attend motion picture theatres at least once a week. Twenty-five per cent of the children in this age group said they go to the movies twice a week, and a few even more often.

The survey also disclosed that as children mature they go to the movies less often, and are more likely to choose a film they want to see rather than to go to the theatre in a casual search for entertainment. Nevertheless 59 per cent of high school students were found to attend at least one a week.

The motion pictures shown in the neighborhood theatre became, therefore, a part of the educational system, and part of the natural environment. They help to form children's ideas about history and society, about ways of life. Most persons will agree that from the standpoint of education and social development many motion pictures could be better designed.

MORE ON THE CONDON CASE

Representative Holtfield of California on March 9 inserted in the Congressional Record a prolonged address in defense of Dr. Edward W. Condon which makes very interesting reading. However, I note that he said that the American Soviet Science Society "is not affiliated with the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship," which has been declared a subversive organization by Attorney General Clark.

That was not true on March 8 when I made an examination of the fact. I found that both organizations used the same office and the same telephone as of that day. I found that the American-Soviet Science Society is listed at 114 East 32 Street, telephone Murray Hill 3-2080; the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship is listed at 114 East 32 Street, telephone Murray Hill 3-2080. I found that the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc. occupies Rooms 803-5 in that building, while the American-Soviet Science Society occupies Room 804. Also in Room 804 is the American-Soviet Relations. This is a suite of rooms used by affiliated organizations.

Perhaps Representative Holtfield can explain this coincidence. Perhaps he knows why two offices that have nothing to do with each other, "are not affiliated." Live in the same room, have the same telephone, undoubtedly use the same office help. He admits:

"It is true that the society grew out of a committee connected with the national council at that (sic) time of the war when Russia was our ally."

He then lists a number of distinguished and undistinguished persons who joined this organization during the war. If we were to hold everybody responsible for his attitude toward Soviet Russia during the war, most who today violently attack Russia would be condemned for their former stupidity.

However, the war is over and even those who felt that they had to go along with a so-called ally are discovering that Soviet Russia was never an ally; that Soviet Russia used this country to her advantage and to our detriment. But March 9 is a late date to keep on repeating the same errors.

Therefore when Representative Holtfield said on March 9 that he was not affiliated with the American-Soviet Science Society, he repeats:

"The American-Soviet Science Society long ago severed connections with the national council. . . . On March 8, this was not true. Both organizations were connected by operating on the same premises and by using the same telephone. I wonder if Representative Holtfield investigated this 'separation' or was just too stupid to do so."

I had not known that Dr. Condon had suggested that the employees of the National Bureau of Standards join this organization which on March 8, 1948, was in the same offices and used the same telephone as the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, the latter having been declared to be a subversive organization. He apparently did not know that Representative Holtfield defends that action, in fact, he says:

"In passing, I would like to point out that these attacks on this society, aside from their utter absurdity and untruth, have resulted in hindering an activity of vital interest to the security and defense of this country, for the society was doing work for the armed forces. . . . That requires some explanation. Precisely how would something called American-Soviet Science Society 'be of vital interest to the security and defense of this country?' That sentence implies that the interchange of scientific information between the United States and Soviet Russia can benefit the United States. I wonder if Representative Holtfield of California would list without unnecessary comment, so that we can attack one against the other, how much exchanging the United States has done and how much Soviet Russia has done. Precisely what data did Russia send to this country for our advantage? How many, by name, please, American scientists were permitted to work in Russia research laboratories and to bring out for our use whatever data they obtained in such laboratories?"

Representative Holtfield makes a categorical statement: let him produce some evidence, factual, irrefutable evidence that can be investigated and checked. It would be valuable to the American people to know the facts.

TUBERCULOSIS MAY FOLLOW MEASLES

A few weeks ago I pointed out that many parents gave little attention to the diseases of childhood; in fact, many felt that it was nice to have them over and be done with them. It was shown that some cases of whooping cough occurring in very young children were followed, several years later, by attacks of epilepsy.

Another common disease, seldom taken seriously, is measles. Yet in children of pre-school age (under five), measles can prove highly dangerous. Not that measles itself is usually the killer, but it can weaken a child so that it makes him an easy victim for pneumonia or other serious after-effects. One of the serious after-effects mentioned was our disease, which is sometimes followed by brain disease.

While having one attack of a child's disease usually means a more serious further attack, pneumonia which often follows measles—is more apt to occur after the first attack. Also after several attacks of pneumonia or bronchopneumonia, the youngster becomes predisposed to that dread disease, tuberculosis.

In the "United States Naval Medical Bulletin," Washington, D. C., Drs. M. P. Thomas and D. L. Knutson, on the basis of a case history and reports in the literature, stress the rapid onset of tuberculosis following measles. They point out that children do not die of measles but do die of pneumonia; that where the youngster is slow in recovering, and has a long convalescence, the physician should be on the lookout for early tuberculosis. They suggest that, in addition to the usual signs of tuberculosis—tiredness, cough, loss of weight, afternoon temperature—there should be frequent X-rays of chest and examinations of sputum.

In their book, "Handbook of Therapy," Drs. Morris Fishbein and Oliver T. Osborn point out that the tuberculin test during and immediately following measles may be negative and thus mislead the physician. This fact also is noted by Drs. Thomas and Knutson.

The thought, then, is that in cases of slow recovery from measles, the possibility of early tuberculosis being present should be remembered.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

According to "Message of 1929," a year-book of the mystical circle of spooks, fortune-tellers, hypnotists and New Deal political fakery which Henry Wallace frequented, the great 24-story Joss-house on Riverside Drive, New York, was formerly presented to "the people of the United States" on Oct. 17 of that year.

This gift was announced publicly in a rapturous speech by Louis L. Horch, Wallace's friend and later his political protégé and plant in the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce.

On Oct. 17, 1929, Horch announced that "we, the trustees of the Roerich Museum which is devoted to art and the ideals of this master (Nicholas Roerich, the Russian god-man), do hereby proclaim the Roerich Museum as the property of the people of the United States."

We, the trustees, do hereby make this gift to the people of America with the profound conviction that the inspired message of Roerich shall bring new beauty to this country and that his call for a new brotherhood among men shall add glory to the present and future America.

That is not a legal undertaking as to language, but it might be considered insane as it was uttered in the presence of a crowd of 10,000 including persons of distinction.

An article in "Message of 1929" declares that the building and its art works of some value were to be thenceforth "the property" by "gift" of "the people of the United States."

About seven years later, on September 6, 1936, Horch sued in the courts of the state of New York to recover personal ownership of the building, a combination art gallery, theatre or lecture hall and apartment-hotel. The "people" of the United States apparently never heard of the gift to them, much less of the action to rescind it. They were not represented in the litigation by which Horch, eventually, got back his Joss-house. At several points in the tangled proceedings, amidst mysterious legal complexity, the name appears of Morris Leopold Ernst, the New York New Deal politician and lawyer, Whilom shirtmaker and genius of many other interests, including sex. He is the author, with other authorities, of a work called "Sex Life of the Unmarried Adult." And that is just the sort of fellow he is.

Inasmuch as he lied to me at that time about his interest in Roerich's works, claiming his interest was strictly cultural, whereas he had already testified that members of the cult regarded Roerich as god himself, I didn't believe his statement of the status of the property and don't believe him now. I believe he was double-talking with a view to obtaining the tax exemption later proposed by Mr. Palestine. He said he was broke or threatened and actually needed the salary of his federal job which Henry Wallace had given him before President Truman named Wallace in the fall of 1946. That was the job of regional director of the Department of Commerce for New York and New Jersey, with jurisdiction over exports to Russia and other European nations.

W. A. Harriman, Wallace's successor in the Department of Commerce, "accepted the resignation" of Horch last October after the relationship of Horch and Wallace and of both of them to the Roerich circle had been exposed in these dispatches. Since then, Washington dispatches have reported that the Department of Commerce has refused to give committees of Congress full information concerning exports of heavy goods and other exports to Russia and other European countries. Have been unable to verify this, but a letter to Mr. Harriman asking certain information has been ignored.

Hugh Quinn, also a councilman, also of the Borough of Queens, joined councilman Clemente in opposing tax exemption.

Mr. Palestine does not represent the area where the lamnery, now known as the Master Institute of the United Arts, is situated.

There is in existence a resolution signed by all the directors of the old Roerich Museum, July 24, 1929, when the dew was on the rose and Horch was goofy over his Guni, which says:

"We the trustees of the Roerich Museum, which is devoted to the art and the ideals of this master, do hereby proclaim the museum as the property of the people of the United States of America. In proclaiming the Roerich Museum as the property of the American nation we do hereby declare it an unalterable condition thereof that the museum shall never be disposed, sold, nor change its name or its original purpose as a monument to the art of Nicholas Roerich nor shall the walls ever be used for any other purpose, than the exhibition of the paintings of this master."

We the trustees of the Roerich Museum do hereby make this gift to the people of America with profound conviction that the inspired message of Roerich shall veeden-voden the fooderackysack of the video-do."

It was signed by Louis L. Horch and Nettie S. Horch, his wife, among others.

Truman Speech Fails to Carry Punch in Letting Russia Know U. S. Really Means Business

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 18—President Truman presented Congress with a logical case for immediate war with Russia or at least a showdown at once, but he failed to back it up with recommendations that could impress Russia.

The theory that Russia would be impressed by the adoption of a slow-moving program of Universal Military Training or the drafting of untrained youth under the Selective Service System is not convincing.

Russia can overrun Europe in six weeks—long before any draft or Universal Military Training program can be of avail.

What the President, for some reason unknown to Capitol Hill, did was to say Russia has to be stopped but without indicating that America is really going to participate at once in such a process.

With the whole world aware that air power is a weapon of great potential for immediate action, the President did not ask for the call to service of any of the trained pilots or reserves who would be headed to back up America's pronouncements in the event that Russia continues her aggression.

Unfortunately, the President and Secretary Marshall give the impression that they would like to use the present emergency to secure the adoption of a long-range universal military program which Congress has hitherto balked at passing.

If the crisis is as serious as the President's recital of the facts would indicate, then Mr. Truman is "dilly-dallying" with America's national safety and the freedom of Norway and the five nations which are binding themselves together in a mutual defense pact.

The thesis that Russia is impressed by action and not by words is repeatedly proclaimed in administration circles. Yet there was no action specifically directed toward a return of American forces to Europe mentioned in Mr. Truman's message. There was a veiled promise to help a warning to Russia, but this is not likely to be any more effective than the pronouncement of the Truman Doctrine was last year in reference to Greece and Turkey.

If Mr. Truman had asked Congress to give him authority to use American forces in any emergency that might arise, Russia might have been impressed. Without any request for congressional authority involving the use of forces, the Truman speech could be regarded by Russia as sheer bluff.

The American people are far ahead of Mr. Truman in their thinking. They do not relish living in a world with an aggressor state on the loose. They would rather have the situation clarified at once than to drift along indefinitely with alternate periods of crisis and calm and with vast expenditures for preparation for war while Russia perfects her military machine, too.

Russian aggression is now a plain fact which the whole world sees. Mr. Truman speaks of it as a "growing menace." Secretary Marshall tells of cold-blooded aid to guerrillas in Greece by Soviet satellites, and he mentions the subversive efforts in Italy and in Scandinavian countries.

It would appear that such aggression, if it is to be checked at all, might better be checked by demanding a cessation at once under penalty of military action. Such a statement need not be given in public, but American ambassadors can be instructed to tell America's purposes without the fanfare of publicity. If such steps are without result and no basis for a more drastic action is discernible, then a public announcement of America's association with the five-nation mutual-assistance pact can be made, together with a pledge to defend the territorial integrity and independence of Scandinavian countries.

Two world wars have now been fought to make the world safe for democracy. The democracies do not yet feel safe and peaceful recovery is impeded by the presence of another aggressor state. The only language such a state is represented as accepting is the language of physical force. Apparently the Truman-Marshall administration has failed in its diplomacy, and the American people now are confronted unhappily with the effects of a confused diplomatic situation from which the only outcome is a showdown that could mean war.

The administration's course consists of half-way measures. War can be avoided, but it will require firm and clear-cut action now. Congress is ready to back up any program that really means prevention of war and is ready to go to war if that is the only course left.

Q—Who discovered the Sargasso Sea?
 A—Christopher Columbus. His ships became entangled in the seaweed of the Sargasso Sea and he was forced to stay there for several weeks.

Through nuclear fission the scientists have been able to create eight new elements "that do not exist in nature." He also reported the possibilities of using the atomic energy to "lift all the labor off men's shoulders," and from a medical standpoint to "trace all of this very jumbled mysteries which is growth."

Colonel Craig outlined the plan for atomic control endorsed by all of the scientists. This plan was proposed by the United States and provided that all nations of the world agree not to use atomic energy for warfare and that all atomic fuel and resources everywhere come under the control of an international commission who would have sole control of "the use and development of this wonderful gift."

In order that the audience might have a better understanding of nuclear fission, Colonel Craig showed a "briefing" film explaining the scientific approach to "splitting an atom." This showed the make-up of atoms, hydrogen, helium, lithium and uranium in particular. The forces of electrons, protons and neutrons and the effect of changing the composition of each atom was outlined, as well as the resulting released energy. "The energy in one uranium atom is equal to two million kinetic volts of electrical energy," he said.

The amount of destruction of one little atom bomb is equal to 20,000 tons of T.N.T., he reported, "enough T.N.T. to fill four freight trains of 100 cars each."

Two films of the actual Bikini Atoll tests were shown. The first related the preparations for the tests from the moving of the inhabitants and the life of the men assigned to the operations. The films were in color and showed the beautiful sunrises and sunsets of the tropical islands.

Among the most interesting factors were the radio controlled "drone" planes, both bombers from Kwajalein and the navy baby planes from an aircraft carrier. These planes flew without crew, controlled by radio from crews in "mother planes," and were directed through the atomic clouds resulting from the bombs. Pictures were shown of these planes as they were flown and as they landed on the airfield. They carried cameras and dust catcher boxes for scientific study. Photos were shown of the crews dismantling the boxes which were radio active from the bomb and deadly to the touch. Geiger counters were used to determine the amount of radio activity.

In the second of the tests which set-off the bomb under water, drone boats were controlled in the same manner from master ships out at sea.

The bomb in the second test was controlled by radio also. Pictures of the results following the bomb explosion were shown as taken from the photographer's airplanes, from the drone ships, and also from the towers on Bikini. The sound of the explosion was also recorded although Colonel Craig used the films as silent pictures for the most part.

He told of the preparations made by the photographers, 56 in all, who used eight B-29's and two C-54's. Colonel Craig gathered them from three main sources, those especially trained technically from Wright Field; Hollywood men for the documentary filming; and experienced cameramen.

Special cameras were developed for the tests, since scientists were particularly interested in the results in the first one-tenth of a second following the bombing. One camera photographed four thousand frames a second and actually marked the edge of the film denoting to a 10 millionth of a second the film was made.

Colonel Craig said that in the first four minutes following the test enough film was used to make 17 full length Hollywood productions. In all 317 motion picture cameras were used, set in all positions possible on the planes. Some cameras which could take 100 feet of film were so arranged that actually 600 feet of film was taken in one second. Another camera was so strong that a face of an eight-inch clock three-quarters of a mile away could be photographed and the picture would show the second hand.

William Brady pronounced the invocation.

The April 20 meeting will be the final one for the current club year. Afterward applications for membership for the next year will be received and will be considered in the order they are received.

Col. Steward Roddie, English lecturer will be the speaker.

Veteran Makes Demand

New York, March 18 (AP)—A navy veteran who found a home for himself and family in a $12.50-a-day room at Waldorf-Astoria hotel went to city hall today to demand official help in finding an apartment. Richard Cox, the 34-year-old veteran, told officials the city is obligated to help him find a new apartment for his wife and two sons, James, 2½, and Richard, 18 months. Seeking to publicize his plight, Cox moved his family from a Brooklyn flat to the Waldorf last Saturday. He said he'll send the hotel bill to the city. At city hall an official advised him to present his plea for a public housing project apartment in writing. Then, the official said, the housing department will consider his case and try to help him find an adequate apartment.

10 Men Are Killed

a landing in a dense fog when it hit the edge of the runway at the southwest corner of the field, it was reported by Capt. George G. Byrnes, MacDill Field public information officer.

The big craft hit the ground, bounced once and then crashed and burned. Wreckage was scattered over a wide area.

Fog was rolling in from the bay and hugging the ground about 150 feet thick, Capt. Byrnes said. Apparently it was impossible to pick out the runway quickly.

The plane had stopped at Maxwell Field (Montgomery, Ala.), and was arriving at Tampa from the 32nd Bomb Squadron at Spokane. The crash occurred at 2:32 a. m.

The MacDill Field Accident Board began an immediate investigation.

The injured men were listed as First Lt. Roy M. Walsh, believed to have been the pilot; First Lt. R. H. Halshaw, Staff Sgt. C. C. Miller and Capt. J. M. Miller. Their home addresses were not immediately available.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

HIGHLAND

Highland, March 18. A daughter, Kathy Ann, was born Saturday at Vassar Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doyl, Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Doyl is the former Miss Evelyn Fikens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fikens, North town.

The subject of the sermon by the Rev. Oscar Jensen for Palm Sunday morning in the Presbyterian Church will be "Barabbas—Despised and Rejected of Men."

The Junior Freeston, New York, visited his mother, Mrs. Joseph Freeston Sunday.

Mrs. Elmer Fisher presided at the meeting of the Gause Church School Society Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Henry Swift.

Miss Mary L. Haines conducting the devotions on "How Can You Love This World?" The members decided to adopt a family in Greece who have two children.

The society will send food and clothing to them. Mrs. Meredith Turner was in charge of the music.

Paul Benson, high auctioneer, formerly at Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe in New York, kept the auditorium ringing with laughter, especially with his demonstration on how to make a baby.

Three men dressed like infants, bonnets and all, participated in a milk drinking contest and the one that emptied the nursing bottle first was given a prize and proclaimed "the biggest sucker in town."

Midge and Cerr, recently back from a tour of the west with Jerry Wald and his orchestra, favored with whirlwind dance routines, and Joe Martin, tenor from WJZ, sang selections appropriate to St. Patrick's Day.

Prior to the vaudeville, Elliot Lawrence and his orchestra played a concert, featuring vocal solos.

began at 9 o'clock. Music for dancing was furnished until 1:30 a. m.

Howard Is Big Hit

Bobby Howard, the 1948 version of Pats Waller, was the big hit of the show with his outstanding work at the piano. The former Station WHN pianist, on Mosey Amsterdam's "Gloom Dodgers" was called back for numerous encores.

Although the entire bill was applauded freely, Howard's tricky keyboard ability took the four-star rating. Starting off with "Alone in the Moonlight," the radio and screen star moved along in unique style with his arrangements of "I'm Going to Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter," Honey-Suckle Rose and several others.

Howard also brought the house down with his version of a mechanical player piano and boogie-woogie.

Lon Saxton, the gifted master of ceremonies, kept the entertainment moving along in exceptional style. He sang several novelty tunes.

By WILLIAM F. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

We sometimes hear a player remark "I hate to be on the opening lead. I never know what to lead." That is not the way a good bridge player feels about it. Don't lead from fright and don't accept the old saying "When in doubt, lead trump." Trumps generally are the last thing that should be led unless the bidding indicates that declarer probably will want to do some ruffing in dummy.

In today's hand you may or may not favor a two-bid on the part of South, but it does look like the type of hand on which you want to get to game. South shows a two-suit hand. Holding the ace of spades and king-jack of hearts, West can pretty well figure that South has a minimum of two five-card suits. By showing a preference for spades North indicates that he has at least as many or more spades than hearts. With his four hearts to the king-jack-nine, West knows that declarer will have to trump out some of the hearts.

Therefore, instead of making the normal opening of the queen of diamonds, West must open the ace of trumps and continue with a small one. When declarer takes the heart finesse, West wins and leads the third trump.

Now there is nothing that South can do to keep West from winning two more heart tricks. The trump opening gives West the ace of trumps and three heart tricks, defeating the contract.

If the queen of diamonds is opened, declarer can ruff one of his hearts in dummy and thus lose only two heart tricks.

Settlement Made In Glass Action By Utica Company

A settlement out of court has been made in the negligence action brought by Utica Mutual Insurance Company against Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation to recover for payments made under workmen's compensation in the claim of Mrs. Raymond Glass. Mr. Glass, employed by Carl Miller & Son, electrical contractor, was at work on an electric line at Rifton where a line was being rebuilt on the Tishauer property in 1944 when he suffered a fatal electrical shock. The insurance company paid the claim and in the present action sought to recover from the Central Hudson, the amount of the award paid Mrs. Glass on the grounds the Central Hudson had been negligent in the installation of certain of its equipment. It was the claim of the insurance company that this negligent installation or maintenance of equipment was responsible for the death of Mr. Glass.

The case was commenced in Supreme Court before Justice Scherick and a jury and after it had been partially tried was settled. No announcement of the settlement was made in court. The claim paid Mrs. Glass was approximately $18,000.

Cashin & Ewig appeared for the insurance company and N. LeVan Haver and John E. Egan appeared for the utilities company.

Second Action Settled

A second negligence action was also settled, that of Jesse M. Ostrander and Herbert Ostrander of Kingston against Pine Hill Bus Corporation. This action had previously been tried and resulted in a disagreement by the jury. The action grew out of an accident near West Hurley when Mr. Ostrander drove his car off the highway and onto a bank to avoid a collision with a bus which had stopped just ahead of his car. The Ostrander car and the bus were both proceeding in the same direction when the plaintiffs claim it stopped without warning and in order to avoid striking the bus the Ostrander car was turned aside and to the ditch resulting in injuries to the plaintiffs and damage to the Oldsmobile car. Plaintiff contended he was unable to turn to the left because of an approaching car and was required to turn toward the ditch to avoid a crash.

Cashin & Ewig appeared for the plaintiffs and Reginal V. Spell for the defending corporation.

An action for negligence was taken up to recover for injuries which Joseph M. Pezzo suffered when he alleged he was injured while spraying on the Nate Williams farm in Lloyd. He brings the action against Frank E. Pezzo, who rented the Williams property, and also Mr. Williams, owner. At the time of the accident Pezzo was employed on a spray rig on the property. He alleges that while endeavoring to cover up the seat of the vehicle he became involved with a drive shaft of the spray rig and suffered injuries. Pezzo rented the farm and employed Pezzo but the action is also brought against the owner of the farm and equipment which was being used.

Arthur A. Beaudry appears for plaintiff and Michael Ardono appears for defendant Pezzo and A. W. Lent appears for Mr. Williams.

Big Window Bill

New York, March 18 (AP). — Hand-slapping, fast-running school bus players broke a 128,000 window panes in city schools during the last academic year. The board of education footed the bill for $100,000. A spokesman said today there was little evidence of vandalism. It was just a case of enthusiasm.

Railroad Officials Investigate Wreck

An investigation is in progress by railroad officials to determine the cause of the wreck on the West Shore railroad Tuesday night in which one freight train crashed into the rear of another at Marlborough. It was reported that two freight cars, a caboose and a tank car were destroyed in a fire which followed the wreck. A fireman suffered a broken arm and two other men were injured slightly. The engineer of the east-bound freight which crashed into the rear of the other train, was J. Wilson of Westlawken, N. J. It was learned today. He suffered lacerations of the face, but the injuries were not serious. The train was in charge of Conductor D. J. Cuff, of Kingston and E. P. Reiser, head trainman, who suffered a slight head injury. Edward A. Gemeinhardt, of Union City, N. J., the fireman, who suffered a fracture of the left forearm when he leaped from the cab of the engine, was treated in Kingston. The wreck was cleared at 7:45 a. m. Wednesday and normal traffic was resumed on the road following that time. The trains collided at about 9:35 p. m. Tuesday during a heavy fog.

Survey to Begin

Continued from Page One "shall be forever kept as wild forest lands," the state had to obtain permission from the people, through a constitutional amendment, to undertake the Ulster and Warren ski projects. The amendment was approved by the electorate last November. Governor Dewey's supplemental budget, approved by the Legislature last week, provides $75,000 for initial work on the Belloyre and Warren county ski projects. The budget earmarked $60,000 for surveys, acquisition of land and "clearing, grading and basic improvements" for the Belloyre development. It allowed $15,000 for plans and acquisition of land for the North Creek project. The conservation spokesman said the appropriation was not sufficient to permit major construction and more funds would be sought from the 1949 Legislature. The department source said the Belloyre project probably would not be self-liquidating, but would be operated as a state service. "There are certain benefits, not accruing as direct cash," he added and said such a project would bring "much business into the state and the area." He said the department would "have to charge a small fee" for public use of some facilities. Free service, he asserted, would be unfair to private developments.

Forst Packers Put Up New Plant Smoke Stack

A new smoke stack is being erected today at the Forst Packing Company plant on Abeel street, between the boiler room and the garage.

The new stack is 120 feet high, 57 inches in diameter and weighs 11 tons, according to figures supplied by the maintenance superintendent. It is similar to the one which crashed to the roof of the enclosed stock yards on November 25.

It was said at the plant today that the company is planning to replace its present boiler room with a new one after the stack is erected. However, Henry Forst, secretary-treasurer of the company, was not available today for confirmation.

The work of erecting the stack is being performed by V. J. Costanzi, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, with a crew of members of the local iron workers' union under Leo Amell, foreman, of this city.

Minerals Are Found

Budapest, March 18 (AP)—The newspaper Kis Ujsag said today traces of thorium and uranium, used in atomic experiments, have been found by Hungarian geologists in the Trans-Danubian mountains. The Trans-Danubian mountains are in western Hungary between the Danube river and Austria.

D. J. Cashin Dies

Yonkers, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—Daniel J. Cashin, 69, former Westchester county clerk and former member of the Republican State Committee, died today. A native of Yonkers, he had held numerous municipal offices including president of Yonkers board of Aldermen and corporation counsel.

any believe that the adoption of R. 4278 would be far less disruptive of community life than acquiring of a regular army of 47 million men, which could be accomplished without a fight.

The rate Russia is taking in the European countries, it is a useful whether a training program, as proposed by H.R. 4278, give us the "adequate military strength necessary in time of war" may be forced to "act indirectly," as proposed by former secretary of State, James Byrnes, in a speech he made in Charleston, S. C., on Saturday.

Mr. Byrnes believes that a prompt re-enactment of the act is necessary along with increased appropriations for a fully increased air force. The secretary of state made a harsh statement, but the time here when we have to be realistic. If the United Nations is unable to function and unable to establish an international police force, I ask my readers, what other method can we use to maintain world peace?

When we live in such a wonderful country and have so much happiness to look forward to, we wonder why all this unrest? We have to think of our problems here at home too. Every day brings us news of underhanded conspiracies that are detrimental to our national welfare. We can't let these foreign philosophies infiltrate any further. That Pagan philosophy has crucified Europe. Should it develop that we have to build a strong military force soon, every true American must see to it that there are no enemies within our own places of strategy and command. This great country, our heritage, our heritage, our Christian idealism, and our faith. With Easter approaching, every man of God must think of him who died so all men could live in peace.

Students Increased

The number of students in U. S. college-grade schools increased about 40 per cent between 1930 and 1940.

RIFTON

Rifton, March 18—Mrs. C. Troll recently left for White Plains to visit her father who is ill at a hospital.

Miss Lucy Diaz is reported to be ill.

Mrs. R. Koester and daughter, Raynor of Rockaway Beach, visited Mrs. Lena Groth.

Mrs. Paul Tresvik of Schenectady is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Lober.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the Rifton Methodist Church next Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday services at the Rifton Methodist Church will be conducted by the Rev. Fred W. Stine. The public is invited.

There will be no Sunday school at the church on April 4. Mrs. J. Grady attended the funeral of a relative in New York recently.

Three-Day Cooking School To Be Held at Ward's

A three-day electric cooking school will be conducted Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next week at Montgomery Ward and Company store. The school will be held in the housewares department in the basement of the store and will begin at 2 p. m. each day. The public is invited.

Miss Dorothy Rhodes, home service representative for the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., will conduct the school and Miss Kay Meddaugh will be her assistant. They will use Montgomery Ward Company's electric range for demonstration purposes.

Miss Rhodes, a native of Portland, Me., and graduate of Miss Farmer's School of Cooking in Boston, has been with Central Hudson for six years. During the war, she specialized in victory cooking, demonstrations featuring economical use of scarce products. Miss Meddaugh, a native of New Milford, Conn., was graduated from Rhode Island State College, where she majored in Home Economics.

Frozen Peas

Quick-frozen peas, now generally available at reasonable prices, are good when coupled with boiled small white onions; the combination may be served buttered or in a cream sauce.

Stewed Figs

Stewed figs make a good accompaniment for crisp ready-to-eat cereals. When they are served in this way sugar will not be needed for the cereal.

RED BRIDAL BOUQUET

A reader questions my advice to a bride in an earlier column that it would be in worst taste for her to carry a bouquet of red roses with her bridal white dress and veil. She explains: "At one of the loveliest weddings I ever went to, the bride carried red roses. These roses against the ivory satin of her dress made a picture of loveliness that I shall long remember."

I never have seen nor even heard of this before and while I think red roses would be very beautiful against a white evening dress, it strikes me as being shockingly unsuitable for a bridal bouquet. For the bridesmaids, such bouquets might be possible.

Finger-Food Question

Dear Mrs. Post: What about eating spare-ribs? It is practically impossible to eat crisp broiled spare-ribs without taking them up in the fingers. We do this at home when the family is alone and I never serve them to company. But there is a nice restaurant here which serves delicious spare-ribs as one of their specialties. Everyone sits picking them up with their fingers, so it's not at all conspicuous. But we have had some discussion about its being good table manners. My husband insists that since it would be impossible to eat the best of a spare-rib any other way than with the fingers, this makes it all right. What do you say?

Answer: This is one of those questions of "where." At a counter or any cloth-less table, it would be permissible to pick them up in your fingers. At a table that can be considered formal in any way, it would not do at all.

Do What Seems Expedient

Dear Mrs. Post: In my neighbor's house he insists on serving the food and then handing the plates around. (There is no one to wait on table and no man in the house.) At our house I prefer having the serving dishes handed around for each to help himself. Don't you think it is better this way so that each takes as much or as little as she chooses and thereby does not waste food?

Answer: I agree with you that

LYONSVILLE

Lyonsville, March 18—The local school was closed Tuesday afternoon while Mrs. Barringer attended a teacher's conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kozian, Duncan and John Pine, Norma Szinn and brother were in Kingston Tuesday afternoon.

Robert Rhinehart of Gardiner and Miss Eula Barley of Stone Ridge were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Roosa.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis attended the funeral of their uncle, James O'Neill, a former resident of Napunch on Sunday.

A card party and dance will be held at the club house Saturday night. The public is invited.

First Aid For Plants
Stricken With Pests

Don't let plant pests get the best of your plants and flowers! After all, no plant can blossom and be beautiful when it's sick.

Here are some first-aid tips to help you recognize the pests and fight them.

Scale insects are sucking insects usually about the size of a pin-head which cover themselves with a larger waxy covering or scale. The scales may be round, oval, oblong or oyster shaped and often appear on ferns and palms.

You can pick them off with a toothpick, wash them off with a soft brush and water, or kill them with commercial sprays.

Mealy bugs which look like bits of white cotton or wax usually lodge between leaf and stem (they have a passion for crotons and coleus) and can be treated the same way as scale insects.

What to do about white flies, plant lice, worms, rot, red spider? See the vital chapter on plant pests and how to fight them in the Reader Service house plant's guide prepared especially for you by The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Also bulbs, ferns, terrariums, sprays, repotting, summer house plant care.

More Than 50 Carriers
Long Beach, Calif., March 18.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Whitehead says the Naval Air Reserve has more than 50 carriers in readiness in the event of a national emergency. The admiral, head of the Naval Air Reserve program, explained the program embraced 233 squadrons which could be placed in service on 50 to 55 carriers now "in mothballs". He said personnel to man the carriers could be drawn from the reserve's present strength of 40,000, including 6,000 pilots. Whitehead last night reviewed 3,000 men at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station.

Washington (AP) — Manpower wouldn't be the biggest initial problem of the small American Army if a showdown with Soviet Russia flamed into a third world war soon.
"Our biggest shortage isn't in men—it's in equipment," said one veteran officer.
Less than three years ago the United States had the best-equipped armies in history in the field in both Europe and the Pacific. Her combat troops were numbered in millions.
Today the army still has some 550,000 men. But less than one fifth of these are in anything approaching real combat condition. The rest are engaged in occupation duties, post work, warehouse guard duty—all the tasks it takes to keep the framework of a peacetime army intact.
As an emergency striking force the army could throw into immediate ground battle only about two divisions in Europe, one in America and three to four in Asia.
But if war came tomorrow couldn't millions of trained ex-servicemen leap to arms and restore almost overnight America's lost combat strength?
"That is the belief of the average civilian, ignorant of the time and immense work needed to build modern ground armies. It is a source of great worry to professional soldiers upon whom the organization of the nation's defenses rests.
"Millions of men leap up," one officer said wryly, "but they wouldn't leap to arms."
The reason? The arms aren't there any more. The tremendous military surpluses of three years ago are gone. The great stockpiles of weapons, supplies and equipment have been sold, broken up or donated to the armies of Greece, Turkey, China and other countries.

Today the vast arsenal of democracy has in mothball reserve enough leftover equipment to outfit only a comparatively few ground divisions.
"Our big problem again would be—not manpower—but the conversion of our industry to a wartime footing," said a man who helped plan the operations of World War Two. He estimated it would take from one to two years to "put us even in as good shape again as we were the day of the Pearl Harbor attack."
This, of course, is no secret to Russian military experts. They know the tremendous power of the American industrial colossus, but they know also the months and perhaps years it takes to gear it up to the point it can pour out decisive floods of weapons of all kinds.
Adolf Hitler knew it, too, gambled anyway—and lost. But the Russians may figure they are in a better comparable position to make the same gamble—and win.
Some military experts here believe the Soviet ground armies could sweep over western Europe in six weeks to two months. That would put them in position to try to neutralize British production by guided missile bombardment from across the channel.
If they succeeded, the main in-

Sharp Meets Same Robin 5 Years. He Thinks

Traditional notification that spring has arrived was received by city officials and city hall employees Wednesday morning.

Lewis M. Sharp, city hall janitor and custodian, told them that he saw a robin Wednesday morning while on the way to work from his home at 197 Downs street.

"Sharp said he has seen a robin in almost exactly the same spot on Downs street, near Tenbroeck avenue, every year for the past five years. He thinks maybe it is the same hardy bird that returns to greet him early every spring."

More Time Now

It is estimated that the average U. S. industrial worker had twice as much free time for recreation in 1947 than in 1899.

State '47 Deaths Lowest on Record; Accidents Increase

Motor Vehicles Also Travel More Miles; Non-Fatal Injuries, Losses Are Higher

Albany, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—Although more cars traveled more miles than ever before, New York state's 1947 motor vehicle death rate was the lowest in history—7.2 per 100,000,000 traffic-miles.

The number of reported accidents increased from about 137,000 to 187,288, but the number of deaths dropped from 2,004 in 1946 to 1,970 last year, a peacetime low.

Non-fatal injuries, however, soared to 114,070, the most since 1931, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Clifford J. Fletcher reported today.

And property damage jumped to more than $50,000,000, compared to $21,000,000 in 1945 and $30,000,000 in 1946.

One thing was unchanged. Fifty-one per cent of the fatalities were pedestrians in 1946 and 1947.

The 1947 death toll of 1,970 exceeded the totals in wartime 1943-44-45, when travel was restricted. But the new low rate resulted, Fletcher said, because of the greater number of cars and mileage.

Motor vehicle registrations passed the 3,000,000 mark for the first time in 1947, reaching 3,067,044.

Division sources estimated miles traveled at 27,274,800,000, based on the consumption of a record 2,005,500,000 gallons of gasoline. They figure on the basis of 13.6 miles-per-gallon.

The 1946 death toll of 2,004 produced a rate of 8 per 100,000,000 miles traveled. There were 102,000 non-fatal injuries.

Registrations in 1946 totaled 2,798,655. Gasoline consumption was 1,958,000,000 gallons or the equivalent of 26,628,800,000 miles traveled.

Motor vehicle fees climbed more than $1,000,000 to bring the state $38,288,422 last year.

Fletcher said 93,283 licenses were suspended or revoked last year, including suspensions under the safety-responsibility law, compared to 85,000 in 1946.

The death rate Fletcher said, had been as high as 15.7 in 1930 and 10.5 in 1941. The record number of deaths, 3,101, occurred in 1931. The wartime low, in 1944, was 1,584.

Drivers in the 30 to 39 age bracket were involved in most of the accidents, fatal and non-fatal. More accidents occurred on Saturday than on any other day and the most hazardous hour, Fletcher said, was between 5 and 6 p. m.

Among the violations, speeding figured in the most fatalities, 470.

Motorists Asked to Fix License Plates Securely

Edgar J. Dempsey, deputy in charge of the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau office on Main street, daily receives a number of license plates which have been lost from motor vehicles, principally front license plates.

Motorists are cautioned to securely fasten the front plate and to inspect it frequently to see it is properly attached.

If the lost plates are returned to the motor vehicle bureau office before the loser has made application for a new set of plates, the lost plate is mailed to the owner. However, in many instances the car owners, when they find they have lost a plate, make application immediately for another set of plates in order to avoid conflict with the law.

Each year after the new plates are required there is a big increase in the number of lost plates because of insecure attachment. This difficulty has been increasingly great in 1948 and in the majority of instances involves the front plate. For several years front plates have not been required and with the return of the second plate this year old license brackets have been again placed in service. Many of them have become damaged through lack of use or have been replaced by cheap, light brackets which fail to stand up under use.

Council Will Meet

A recessed meeting of the Common Council will be held at the city hall at 7:30 tonight. The purpose of the meeting will be to vote upon an ordinance to provide a bond issue of $53,000 for the purchase of new equipment for the Board of Public Works. The amount was agreed upon by the aldermen at a special meeting on March 10, at which time a purchasing order for that amount was authorized.

Sickler Case Adjourned

In city court today the case of Jesse Sickler, Jr., of 209 Greenkill avenue, was adjourned until March 25. Sickler was arrested on March 15 on charges of driving without a license and driving while intoxicated, after police alleged he was the driver of the truck which struck and knocked down a telephone pole and fire hydrant on Cedar street at 12:40 a. m. on that date.

Saugerties Youth Held for Burglary; Says Articles Found

Nicholas Iovino, 17, of Route 2, Saugerties, was arrested by State Troopers Heywood Rasmussen and Daniel Dakin Wednesday on a charge of burglary, third degree. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush the lad was held for grand jury action.

It is alleged the defendant was seen in the neighborhood of the Nowack summer place at Church-lund and had in his possession comic books and an electric lantern which was identified as having been in the Nowack place last Sunday. The rear door of the house was found open by the Troopers. John W. Evans, neighbor and caretaker, told the Troopers he was driving along the road when he saw Iovino near the premises with the light which he recognized. When he approached Iovino, he told the Troopers, the lad ran away and threw the articles in a pool of water in which the lad also fell. Notified of the incident Troopers Rasmussen and Dakin, investigated and after an examination of the premises and interviewing Evans, they placed Iovino under arrest. The youth claimed he found the articles along the highway.

All members and friends of the church are requested to attend.

Methodist Church, the Rev. B. C. Schmidt, pastor—Sunday school, 9:15 a. m.; worship services, 9:45 a. m. The regular monthly meeting of the Town of Rochester Public Health committee was held at the Public Health rooms March 10 with 21 persons present. Dr. Richard C. Holloway was the guest speaker. Mrs. Ferris Turner, vice-president, who presided, announced that Public Health Week would be observed April 1-17. A dinner too will be held some time during that week. A meeting with movies and demonstrations also is planned. Miss Mildred Barclay reported on the March 9 meeting in Kingston at which time Dr. James spoke on tuberculosis. A demonstration also was given of a nurse's visit to the home of a patient. Miss Blacha, public health nurse, reported on tests made on grade school children in Kerhonkson and noted that only three per cent were positive. Poster material also was discussed. Miss Blacha also explained that due to the absence of a nurse in the Town of Rochester at present, anyone needing the services of a Public Health Nurse in an emergency could contact Mrs. Turner at the Kingston office. Mrs. Mildred Davis conducted the annual election of officers. Mrs. John Schoonmaker, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following names which were accepted: Mrs. Ferris Turner, president; Miss Mildred Barclay, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Breslow, secretary; and Mrs. John Miller, treasurer. Mrs. Turner later appointed the working committees for the year. Dr. Holloway then reviewed the work of the committee since its beginning in 1939, pointing out that it had done much work of the same kind. Health of the town. Two projects were suggested for the future including an immunization committee to determine the immunization rate of infant and pre-school children in the town, and complete record for the same. The second was to provide new equipment for the loan closet. Committees were then appointed to carry out this work. An exchange table was set up for the use of mothers who have wearable children's clothing or shoes who wish to exchange them for other sizes. A canned food table also was on display. Refreshments were served after the adjournment of the meeting.

But the price of fuels made from coal or shale would be high—5 to 7 cents a gallon more for gasoline than for the natural product, not counting the dealer's profit, according to the Interior Department. Since the fuel couldn't be produced profitably, the government would have to pay heavy subsidies to keep the industry running. The construction would require vast amounts of steel and other materials now urgently needed for other purposes.

And research is developing more efficient processes so fast that any plant erected today would probably become obsolete in a short time. In view of all this, it would be better to make a modest start, just to give the industry a toe-hold, says Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Secretary of the Interior Krug.

Krug has recommended to Congress that the government sponsor three commercial-size synthetic fuel plants, to be run by private industry but given financial assistance by the government. One would extract oil from shale. The other two would convert coal into liquid fuels by two different processes.

They would produce only about 30,000 barrels of oil a day—hardly a drop in the 5,700,000,000-barrel bucket of our daily consumption—but it would provide an opportunity to test out the processes on a commercial scale.

What About Oil?

BY CLARK BEACH

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The government today knows all it needs to know to start building a synthetic liquid fuel industry which would guarantee us against all foreseeable petroleum shortages in war or peace.

But the price of fuels made from coal or shale would be high—5 to 7 cents a gallon more for gasoline than for the natural product, not counting the dealer's profit, according to the Interior Department. Since the fuel couldn't be produced profitably, the government would have to pay heavy subsidies to keep the industry running. The construction would require vast amounts of steel and other materials now urgently needed for other purposes.

And research is developing more efficient processes so fast that any plant erected today would probably become obsolete in a short time.

In view of all this, it would be better to make a modest start, just to give the industry a toe-hold, says Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Secretary of the Interior Krug.

Krug has recommended to Congress that the government sponsor three commercial-size synthetic fuel plants, to be run by private industry but given financial assistance by the government.

One would extract oil from shale. The other two would convert coal into liquid fuels by two different processes. They would produce only about 30,000 barrels of oil a day—hardly a drop in the 5,700,000,000-barrel bucket of our daily consumption—but it would provide an opportunity to test out the processes on a commercial scale.

The three plants would cost about $400,000,000.

The government's various pilot plants and the research laboratories which are run both by the government and industry would continue to seek cheaper and more efficient methods of making synthetic fuels.

Oil has become even more important than coal as a source of energy in this country. If war came before the synthetic industry were established, the oil shortage would be far worse than in the last war.

It now appears that the United States military and civilian needs for a major war effort would exceed by at least 2,000,000 barrels a day the foreseeable production from the continental United States," says Forrestal.

He figures that the military need alone would be about 2,750,000 barrels a day—twice what it was in the last war.

Civilian consumption of petroleum, reduced about a third in the last war, would have to be cut in half if war came now, according to Max W. Ball, director of the oil and gas division of the Interior Department.

A synthetic liquid fuel industry big enough to supply the 2,000,000-barrel daily oil shortage could not be built after a war started, for it would require 5 to 10 years. Its plants would cost $9,000,000,000 and its coal and shale mines $1,200,000,000. It would employ 114,000 men in plant operation and 104,000 men in mining.

We do have the "know-how," we took our most important step in 1944, when the Synthetic Liquid Fuels Act was passed. It authorized a 5-year, $30,000,000 program.

Under it the Interior Department, assisted by the Agriculture Department, is conducting extensive research and is building and operating small demonstration plants to produce shale oil and liquid fuels from coal and agricultural products.

Congress recently extended the program for another 3 years, supported by another $30,000,000.

The Germans, however, were the real pioneers. Their processes had advanced to such an extent by 1928, says Dr. Arno C. Eidelner, chief of the Fuels and Explosives Division of the Bureau of Mines, that the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey in that year bought the German patents.

Standard never used them, finding the processes commercially unprofitable. The Germans, nevertheless, during the war produced practically all their aviation gasoline in synthetic plants. At the war's peak they were turning out 75 to 80 per cent of their total domestic liquid fuel production.

But their processes were wasteful and inefficient, and their product was costly. They used their best coal, although poorer grades have now been found suitable.

Most of the German methods are obsolete today, say American scientists, but their industry was the source of most of our information. American fuels experts followed the troops through Germany. While the battlefields were still smoking they probed the ruins of the fuels plants for data on the Germans' secret processes. After the war, German documents, machinery and technicians were brought to this country.

Girl Has Elop
Bennington, March 18 (AP)—Joan Alcock, 17-year-old daughter of a New York broker reported missing by her sister, has eloped with a 19-year-old Bennington youth and gone South, State Police reported yesterday. Police said the high school student's father, Thomas R. Alcock of Hartsdale, N. Y., and her sister Mrs. Roy H. Berquist, with whom she lived, each received telegrams from the girl. Miss Alcock told her father in the telegram that she was married to Earl Stratton, 19, a veteran who was employed as a mill worker until he resigned yesterday. The girl failed to return home from classes at Bennington High School Tuesday.

Shokan, March 17.—Lieut. John Adsit who recently was transferred temporarily to England, is again at his Paris station. Lieutenant Adsit, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Adsit of Shokan, and his wife and daughter are making their home in a Paris suburb.

Great truckloads of logs and firewood again are being hauled from the Route 28 clearing job on the reservoir preserve to the city's sawmill at Brown's. With the completion of timbering operations now going on in the Glenford sector, the new road line will be ready for the final phase of grading work between Ashokan and West Hurley. Paving operations during the summer will result in only a minimum of interruptions to traffic on the present state road as the new alignment coincides with the old pavement in but a few places.

The Olive Post of the American Legion has brought out an attractive and informative brochure designed to present a complete and unbiased survey of the question of fire protection for the town. The survey, was prepared by a post committee of which Donald P. Bishop is the chairman, and with the valuable assistance of Seth F. Cole, a leading authority in this state on the subject of establishing fire protection. The text of the brochure reveals that the cost of the proposed fire protection to individual taxpayers would be one mill on the dollar of assessed valuation, or $1 annually on each $1,000 of assessment. It is also pointed out that the town has four logist districts which could be equipped within the next three months at a very substantial saving through the purchase of army and navy surplus stock. It would appear that the local veterans are to be congratulated upon this timely civic movement which is an example of the numerous good works being carried on by the American Legion throughout the country.

A marriage of March 17, 1887, was that which united Early North and Hannah Eckert, both of Olive. The groom, a baseball player of note, was a son of George North, an early resident of the Maltby Hollow sector. The couple were parents of Justus and Earl North of Shokan and Elston North of Kingston.

The Rev. W. R. Peckham will be speaker at the Lenten devotional service in the Glenford Methodist Church Thursday evening of this week.

Members of the Ashokan baseball club have selected March 21 as the date upon which they will contact residents of the twin villages in the interest of donations to the club for this year.

Glenford Gas reads in the paper that women put more on the outside of their heads than on the inside. "Sure, why not?" says Gus (who has had a tiff with the g.t.) "Lots more room there!"

The local basketball team has three scheduled games before winding up their season. Harbingers of Spring: Lone crows, waking the villagers with raucous cries in early morn. . . . Lou Thiel's Pekin ducks, parked on a snowbank whilst basking in the fast-melting rays of Old Sol. . . . The young kids playing catch on the slite mound after the high school bus comes up.

Echo of Past: It was originally intended to place the Ashokan Reservoir connection with the Catskill aqueduct at the lower end of the east basin near West Hurley, but after further study of the matter the engineers decided against this site. The floor of the basin having been covered largely by the great Beuverkill Swamp which extended between Brown's Station and West Hurley, the character of the soil made it undesirable to lead all the water of the Esopus Creek through it to the head of the aqueduct. Moreover, a deep channel, longer than the combined length of the two channels now in the reservoir, would have been required to draw the lowest water from the west basin, while several miles more of aqueduct would be needed than if the reservoir were tapped at near Winchell Hill and the main dam. Finally, under the revised (and executed) plans, water for New York city could at any time be drawn exclusively from either basin or from both basins at once, through gates located at a dividing weir.

In 1940, U. S. counties had more than 10,000 people for every physician in active practice.

May Ask Court's Help

Washington, March 18 (AP)—President Truman may seek a court order to block the threatened strike at an atomic bomb laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

This was indicated as the next possible move today after a fact finding board reported there was little hope for settling the deadlock before midnight Friday. Some 900 A.F.L. production workers have threatened to walk out at that time at the plant-laboratory which Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp. took over March 1 from Monsanto Chemical Company. The union leaders never have declared they would actually strike.

Philip Guston Is Fellowship Winner, To Study in Rome

Woodstock, March 18 — Philip Guston, Woodstock artist, is among 18 winners of one-year fellowships named by the American Academy in Rome. This fellowship includes transportation, residence expenses and tuition and has an estimated value of approximately $1,000. Mr. Guston is one of the 11 new winners. Renewals were given to seven now at the academy.

It is expected that Mr. Guston will leave Woodstock for Rome in September. He is now working under the Guggenheim fellowship which he won last year. Before coming to Woodstock last year, Mr. Guston taught at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo. In 1946, this well-known artist received the Carnegie award. His work is represented in numerous private collections as well as in the St. Louis Museum, Wisconsin University, Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, and others.

It is expected that Mrs. Guston and daughter, Musa Jane, will join Mr. Guston in Rome where he has had an opportunity to find suitable living quarters for his family.

Young Artists Are Enthusiastic Over Anderson's Show

Woodstock, March 18—Two one-man shows opened at the Mollie Smith Gallery on Tuesday afternoon. David Anderson has an exhibition of paintings while William H. MacReady is exhibiting miniature original etchings.

The exhibition will continue through April 15 and the gallery will be open daily, including Sunday, from 3 to 6 p. m., and Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9.

David Anderson was one of the early painters to come to Woodstock. In 1912, a scholarship awarded by the Art Students League in New York, gave Anderson an opportunity to study with John Carlson. He also studied with Walter Goltz and George Bellows in Woodstock. When only 16 and a student at the Art Students League, Mr. Anderson made his first sale to a leading New York daily newspaper. However, perhaps, more important was that through the sale, the young artist learned by experience the price one often pays for having what he called "a swelled head." The story is told to your reporter was an amusing one. This young lad submitted a drawing to the art editor of the newspaper. In doing so, he stated, "Mr. Anderson sent me down with this drawing." In a few days, David received a check for $30. Full of confidence, he submitted another drawing, with the same statement that Mr. Anderson had sent the drawing. The editor accepted this second one and queried the young lad, "Who is this Mr. Anderson?" He was so pleased and full of confidence, David replied, "Why, I am Mr. Anderson." The check he received this time was for $12, and so he said, "I sold several more drawings but the check was always $12, so you see my swelled head cast me just $18 per drawing."

Over the year, Mr. Anderson has done many "odd jobs" so that he might continue with his painting. It has been a difficult struggle for him. He devotes his mornings to painting in his studio and when the weather permits, works outdoors. During the summer months for the past five years, he has taught many students. Many of his snow scenes which are hung in the current exhibition were painted this winter.

Former exhibitions in which his work has been represented include the Irvington Free Public Library in 1944 and 1945, Mint Museum of Art, 1944, State Teachers College, Pennsylvania in 1945 and 1946. Paintings hung in the current exhibition include Dutch Reformed Church, Evening Shadows, Moonlight on Tannery Brook, Quarry Pond, Sherman Elwyn's Barn, Winter Afternoon, October, Road to Saugerties, Children on Ice, Ten Below, The Blizzard, Blue Horizon, also a pencil drawing, Bit of Shady, and a lithograph An Old Blacksmith Shop. The praise mingled with criticism given by Woodstock's younger set who attended the opening of the exhibition, seemed to please artist Anderson far more than did the many favorable comments expressed by well-known artists. The young people were completely in accord regarding their opinion of the winter painting of the Dutch Reformed Church, which they stated "was the best picture ever done of the church."

M'Ready Etchings Include Many Local Buildings

Woodstock, March 18. No sooner had William H. MacReady finished hanging his original miniature etching preparatory to the opening on Tuesday, than Mollie Smith came forward with a small red tag and placed it upon the one of the Dutch Reformed Church, saying, "I am making the first purchase from my own gallery."

The proceeds from MacReady's show will be contributed to the Uister County 40 and 8 Society for the Child Welfare work of the local Voltaire. In order to swell these proceeds, "Mac" has made a great concession in pricing his work, for this show only, from $3.50 to $10.

The etchings include many local historical buildings as well as historical New England spots. They are: Senate House, Kingston; Rondout, Kingston; Van Buren House, No. 1, Van Buren House, No. 2, New York Avenue, Rondout; Hushbrouck Memorial House, New Paltz; The Old Fort, New Paltz; Brevier House, New Paltz; Vincent Connelly Home, Kingston; Old North Church and Old State House, Boston; Paul Revere House; Longfellow Home and Washington Headquarters, Appleton; Chapel; Mansion of John Quincy Adams; Clarke-Hancock House; The Belfry, The Old North Bridge; Colonel Hartshorne House; The Old Grist Mill; Perrone Covered Bridge, Ulster County; Fairbanks House; Provincetown with Pilgrims Memorial; St. Joseph's Church, Stockbridge; New Paltz Dutch Reformed Church; Katsbaan Dutch Reformed Church; Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church; Woodstock Library; Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen; Wharf Scene Along Hudson; Fishermen's Cove on Cape Cod; First Congregational Church, Stockbridge.

Although MacReady started his art career as a painter, he found etching to be "such a fascinating medium that when I get going, I simply can't stop. The only thing stops me is my eyes." Mac's day starts between five and six in the morning in the winter months and about 4 o'clock during the summer months. His work is described as "straight etching."

Being a good draughtsman is all important when etching and in this field, MacReady is an expert as can be readily seen by his finished work. Mac pointed out in an interview that one of the most important things in his work was the temperature of the acid used for biting the copper plate. Often times, he finds it necessary to warm acid in a pan of hot water, before proceeding with his biting process. Proper temperature of the acid causes it to work faster, said Mac. Although an etcher's tool is commonly used in this medium, MacReady prefers to use his wife's darning needles, which one can imagine doesn't make him too popular when the better half gets round to her darning work. Virola needles are also used at times by Mac. The points shouldn't be too sharp and to achieve the proper bluntness, it is often necessary to "run the needles into stone."

"Etching is a gamble," stated Mac, "because you don't know what you will really get by way of a finished product until it is run through the press."

37 From Woodstock Attend Scout Party

Woodstock, March 18.—Three Woodstock troops were represented by 37 scouts and nine adult scouters at the 36th birthday party of the Girl Scouts held on Saturday last at the M.J.M. School in Kingston.

Mrs. Ethel White was in charge of transportation and arranged for a bus to carry the scouts back and forth.

The scouts were entertained by movies, skits, and a shadow screen show.

Basketball Donation To Library Is $29.95

Woodstock, March 18.—Coach Walter S. Van Wagenen who is also president of the Woodstock Library announced that the Woodstock Varsity basketball team has donated $29.95 to the Library Fund. This amount represented the proceeds from the benefit game played on Tuesday evening in the Town Hall when Woodstock defeated Saugerties in one of the fastest games this season.

Although the players were very pleased with the hard won victory, they had anticipated a much larger attendance which would of course have increased the sum contributed to the library.

Committee to Talk About State Aid For Play Program

Sidney Lutzin of Kingston who is the representative for the New York State Youth Commission will meet on Friday evening with an unofficial committee appointed by Kenneth L. Wilson, supervisor in the Town of Woodstock, to discuss the requirements of the commission in appropriating funds for use in connection with a supervised town playground.

The committee appointed includes Warren Hutter, Woodstock; Montecena DeWitt, Zena; Harrison Gridley, Shady; Joe Forno, Wittenberg; and Kenneth Van Wagenen, Willow.

The Youth Commission has been set up to assist and advise communities interested in setting up and equipping playgrounds. An annual appropriation is made by the state to carry on the work of the commission and a sum up to and including $1,000 is available to a community provided it can meet the qualifications required. It is believed that in order to obtain this amount, a like sum must be available by the town either through donations or taxes.

The Woodstock War Memorial Association has earmarked a large percentage of its fund to be used for playground equipment and it is expected that the amount of such fund will be announced at the General Committee meeting to be held on Monday evening, March 22, in the Town Hall.

In the event the Town of Woodstock could qualify for an appropriation through the New York State Youth Commission, the Woodstock War Memorial Association might consider doubling its playground fund by working with this organization. Since the playground equipment is to be installed on the land occupied by the Woodstock Fish and Game Club, one of the important questions to be settled would be whether or not the commission would grant such appropriation for the installation to be made on property not owned by the township.

The Fish and Game Club which owns 75 per cent of the stock in the holding company has signified its desire to turn the property over to the town. This cannot be accepted by the town, however, unless and until all of the stockholders in the holding company signify a like willingness. An effort is being made to redeem the 25 per cent of stock outstanding and divided among some five or six holders.

One of the stipulations made by the Youth Commission in their program is that the playground benefiting must have a qualified playground supervisor, and it is believed that moneys will be appropriated annually by the state for half of the salary paid such supervisor. Many communities are enjoying the benefits derived from this program and those who have knowledge of it believe it would be an excellent project for the Town of Woodstock. Particularly appealing to these persons is the idea of having the playground and recreation work properly supervised. This would be a great advantage to children and parents alike it is considered.

Water Supply Tests Must Be Done April 1

Woodstock, March 18.—The work of the Post War Planning Committee will cease on April 1, after which date no further appropriations will be granted. It is, therefore, most important that the preliminary water testing work be completed before that time.

Harold Drilling who is in charge of the drilling has been greatly hampered in his work by the severe winter, and it was not until the latter part of last week that he could go on with the work started in the late fall.

Consulting Engineer T. J. Keis of Troy came to Woodstock on Tuesday and arranged for a representative from his office to be on the job constantly so that no time will be lost in making the required tests. Mr. Keis will return to Woodstock again late this week for a checkup.

Birthday Party

Woodstock, March 18.—Mrs. Carl Cousins entertained on Sunday evening with a surprise birthday dinner party in honor of her husband and their niece, Patricia Hoyt of Poughkeepsie. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hoyt, Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cousins and their children, Jimmy and Jean; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cash, and children, Jackie and Tudy; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Halterman, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Art, Mrs. Charles Herrick, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wilber and daughter, Cynthia; Mrs. Eva Cousins, and Mrs. Mollie Smith, and the Cousins' twins, Elaine and Carol, 10½ months old. Jimmy and Jean Cousins assisted with the musical entertainment by playing piano solos.

Show Cause Order

New York, March 18 (AP)—A C.I.O. American Communications Association local was ordered yesterday to show cause why it should not be enjoined from "inducing or encouraging" Western Union workers to refuse to handle messages from three other communications firms whose employees are on strike. The order was handed down by Federal Judge Sylvester

J. Ryan at the request of the National Labor Relations Board. The union's Local 40 was ordered to answer the complaint in court next Tuesday. The N.L.R.B. said the struck companies, Mackay Radio, Commercial Cables and All-America Cables, had filed charges that the local violated secondary boycott provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act by inducing its members not to handle "hot" copy.

No. 1 Man Dies

New York, March 18 (AP)—Jerome Callaghan, 72, known to two generations of New York society as the major-domo of Sherry's Restaurant, died yesterday in Bellevue Hospital. Last fall he fell while hurrying to greet a guest. Resulting fractures of a hip and arm had kept him in the hospital since. His widow, Una, and a daughter, Una Howard Callaghan, survive.

In 1940 Americans spent about four billion dollars for medical service.

Veterinarians Hear About Surgery in Treating Animals

At the March 16 meeting of the Greene-Elster Veterinary Medical Association, Dr. L. W. Goodman from Long Island, one of the outstanding small animal practitioners in the country, talked to the veterinarians regarding some of the most recent advances in chemo-therapeutics and surgery of his small animal practice. The group was especially interested in his comments on canine leptospirosis, heart diseases and new techniques in surgery.

Dr. M. G. Fincher, head of the Department of Medicine, New York State Veterinary College at Cornell University, at a previous meeting, gave an excellent discussion regarding modern trends in large animal medicine. Dr. Fincher showed some very interesting moving and slides of various horse and cattle diseases.

Dr. Dubois Jenkins, currently associated with Dr. L. L. Parker in a general veterinary practice at Catskill, gave a fascinating talk on his personal experiences as a member of the Joint American and Canadian Commission for the Control of Rinderpest for the February meeting. Since Rinderpest is not present on the North American continent, the study was made on Grosse Isle, which is a small island in the middle of the St. Lawrence river. The deepest of secrecy surrounded the work in anti-bacterial warfare undertaken to guard against this old world disease which is considered one of the major factors in the control of the world's meat supply.

Will Pray for Peace

Valley Stream, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—This Long Island village of almost 20,000 will pray for world peace Easter Sunday night. "More than just worrying" is needed, and the people will seek divine help to "reduce war hysteria," is the way William J. Hammond, president of the Central High School Dads' Club explains it. Representatives of the United Nations, clergymen of various faiths and local officials will be invited to attend the mass prayer. Civic associations, veterans groups, parent-teacher associations, women's clubs and religious organizations are cooperating.

171 Die in Blast

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, March 18 (AP)—A coal mine explosion at Ruchin, in Yugoslav territory on the Istrian peninsula, killed 171 persons Sunday, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reports. Tanjug's dispatch, released last night, said the news had just been received here. There were no details.

Canadian Boxers Are Slated for Big April 1 Ring Show Here

B'nai B'rith Seeks Tony Barone; Virgilio Will Meet Bantam Ace

Announcing today that definite arrangements are under way for a boxing show at the municipal auditorium on Thursday night, April 1, Dr. Saul Goldfarb chairman for the sport for B'nai B'rith said that five of Canada's outstanding ringmen are ready for action.

"We booked the boys from across the border because of their popularity here in the past," the Fair street dentist told a sports writer, "and anticipate a capacity house for the April 1 show."

Sought for Bout

TONY BARONE

Three of the five-round matches are all set, Chairman Goldfarb advised, and hinted that B'nai B'rith is after Tony Barone, Schenectady welterweight star to meet one of the Canadians in the other, which would top the card.

If Barone, one of the best boxers attractions for Kingston, accepts the bid for April 1, he'll punch it out with the ace of Montreal welterweights, Cliff "Red" Blackburn, a rugged, hard-hitting leather pusher who has defeated some of the best amateurs in the dominion.

The other five are: Clayton Kenny, Ottawa vs. Ray Smith, Albany, former Golden Gloves champion of Louisiana.

Carmine Virgilio, Poughkeepsie bantamweight vs. Joey Sandulo, Ottawa.

Ronnie Lucelle, Ottawa vs. Harold Merton, Albany, Golden Gloves champion of Adirondack district lightweights.

One of the three-rounders will see Johnny Page, Ottawa middleweight, in action against Eddie Beckwith, Albany, sensation of the Golden Gloves tournament this year.

Two other scraps will be added to fill out the seven-bout card, the first at the auditorium in more than a month.

St. Louis Stops Violets, 65-52 in Tourney Finals

By JOHN CHANDLER

New York, March 18 (AP)—There wasn't any doubt today about the class of the St. Louis University basketball team, and its stringbean center, All-American Ed Macauley.

The Billikens from the banks of the Mississippi put on a collective show last night to overwhelm New York University, 65-52, in the finals of the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden. All the Bills displayed superb teamwork, but Macauley was outstanding.

Six-foot-eight Ed, who looks as if he might snap in half at any moment, came up with a brilliant individual performance, as the Bills gained a berth in the Olympic games trials.

Macauley Is Honored

Macauley poured in 24 points before he got fired shooting at the net and was content to feed his mates for the buckets that all but ran the N.Y.U. Violets purple-faced. He was unanimously voted the tournament's most valuable player.

The preliminary consolation game, won by Western Kentucky, 61-59, after a rough overtime tussle with DePaul, provided most of the evening's thrills.

Yet for all of the one-sidedness of the main attraction the crowd of 18,492 for the most part stayed put and marveled at the hoop wizardry of Coach Ed Hickey's St. Louis proteges.

The Bills and Violets who had gone into the game at even odds after N.Y.U.'s sensational victory over DePaul Monday, started slowly, feeling each other out.

St. Louis got the feel first, and finding it not bad at all, went to work methodically and with utter disregard for the fouled Violets.

Controlling the ball for the most part, St. Louis bore down after Macauley made it 12-5 with 10 minutes gone. N.Y.U. saw little of the ball, and when the Violets did gain possession they didn't appear to know what to do with it. They tossed it away half a dozen times in the first half.

Bills Break Away

Coming onto the floor, after leading 25-18 at halftime, the Bills and Macauley broke the game wide open. In four minutes, they were on top 35-20, and Ed had made nine of the 10 points.

With the count 41-24 after seven and a half minutes had gone by, Macauley had 24 points—the identical N.Y.U. total. He never aimed at the basket again, and with five minutes remaining, he went to the bench to stay.

Job for Muggsy
Bradenton, Fla., March 18 (AP)—The Boston Braves manager, Billy Southworth, let it be known today that Eddie Stanky will have to beat out Connie Ryan for the second base job.

Stanky got the news from Southworth, who confined his activities yesterday to a clubhouse meeting because of a heavy cold. Stanky has just joined the Braves after being traded by Brooklyn.

Boston meets the Detroit Tigers today.

San Bernardino, Calif., March 18 (AP)—Southpaw Frank Biscan, trying to make the grade with the St. Louis Browns, will make his debut against the New York Giants today.

Biscan, up from Toledo, will share mound duties with Al Widmar.

The "B" team meets Portland at Riverside in a second game.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 18 (AP)—George Munger and Al Brazie are Manager Eddie Dyer's mound choices today as his St. Louis Cardinals meet the Cincinnati Reds.

Battling for Athletics

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Connie Mack insists batting practice is the important thing in training camp, and he's giving the Philadelphia A's two hours of it every day.

"Batting practice serves to loosen up the swinging muscles," Connie said. "But its principal purpose, and the chief benefit, is in getting the hitters to focus their eyes on the ball."

Sarasota, Fla., March 18 (AP)—It will be Joe Dobson and Harry (Fritz) Dorish for the Boston Red Sox today against the world champion New York Yankees.

If Marse Joe McCarthy needs another flinger against his old hirings, he'll call on Earl Johnson.

Orlando, Fla., March 18 (AP)—The Washington Senators hit the road for Clearwater today to give the Philadelphia Phillies a chance to even up their two-game exhibition series.

The Senators won yesterday, 11 to 7. Rookie Gil Coan paced the Washington attack with two hits, one an inside-the-park homer with the bases loaded. He also stole a base.

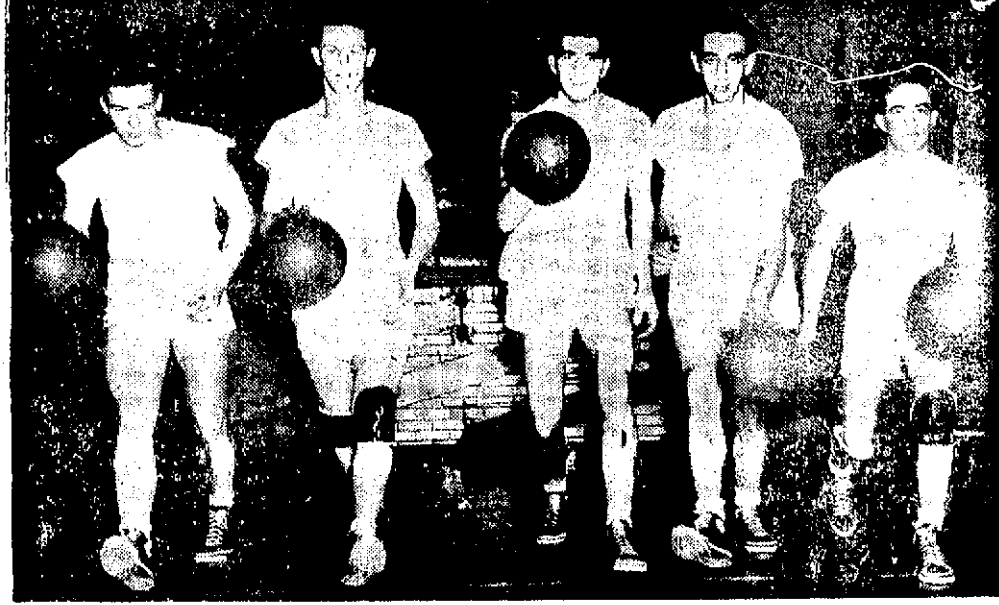

Los Angeles, March 18 (AP)—Beaten in eight of 10 games this spring with professional clubs, the Chicago White Sox hoped today for their first 1948 victory over the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs expect to have Bill Nicholson back in the lineup. He has been out ten days with a pulled tendon.

Trout Hurlis Well

Brooks-Tellier to Battle Tonight; Both Unbeaten

The biggest attraction of the 1948 pocket billiard tournament is slated for Nick Kaslich's Billiard Academy, 297 Wall street, tonight when two undefeated aces—Dave Brooks and Julius Tellier—go up against each other.

A packed gallery is expected to watch the proceedings in this one, the winner of which will surely strengthen his claim for the championship.

Both "Golden Boy" Brooks and the veteran Tellier, have romped through four straight wins so far in the current tournament. And in all four tussles tonight's opponents have taken care of their respective opponents without too much to worry about.

Besides their unbeaten records to date, both Brooks and Tellier have turned in impressive high runs. Brooks has posted a high run of 37 while Tellier boasts of 42.

Rangers In Series

(By The Associated Press)

New York's long suffering hockey fans are in a gala mood today for the New York Rangers, after a six-year lapse, once again have qualified for a National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoff berth by beating the tail-end Blackhawks in Chicago, 5-2 last night. The win boosted their point total to 55, six more than the fifth place Montreal Canadiens who have two games left to play.

Meanwhile, the Detroit Red Wings pulled to within a point of the first place Toronto Maple Leafs by battling the Boston Bruins to a 0-0 tie in Boston.

The Wings and Leafs close out their regular season by meeting in a home and home series Saturday and Sunday.

The Rangers, who were minus the service of regulars Neil Colville, Frankie Eddolls and Phil Watson due to injuries, jumped into the lead in the first period on Eddie Kulman's goal and were never headed.

Savold Replaces Baksi

New York, March 18 (AP)—Indian Heavyweight Gino Buonvino will meet Leo Savold of Patterson, N. J., instead of Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., in the ten-round fight feature at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Baksi had to withdraw after suffering an ankle injury during training at Greenwood Lake, N. J. Savold is a seasoned battler.

'Y' Court Champs To Meet Highland In Opening Tilt

Chez Emile, newly-crowned champions of the Y Basketball League, fresh from a 57 to 39 victory over Slicker's Delivery in the deciding contest of the local cage circuit, swings into action in the first annual Kingston Mid-Hudson basketball tournament tonight at the Y.M.C.A. boards by engaging the highly-rated Highland Raiders.

The first tilt of the big double-header is slated to get started at 7:45 p. m., and indications are that a large gallery of fans will be on hand for this second big twin-bill of the tournament.

Led by Tony Albany and Ray "Lindy" Lindhurst, two former Kingston High School court aces, Chez Emile will go into tonight's tilt as odds on favorites. Albany turned in a tremendous scoring feat the other night by sinking 22 points against Slicker's while Lindhurst, the towering center, bucketed 16 markers.

Highland, a team going great guns at present with a string of 14 wins against only four set-backs, has an experienced squad.

The 9 p. m. attraction will bring together the Milton Packers against the Stockport American Legion. Both squads are on about an equal par judging from their records and recent competition. The Packers have joined forces with the Marlborough quintet and this gives the Milton five additional strength.

In the first two games of the young tournament Tuesday night Stamford defeated the Catskill Boys' Club by 57 to 45, and Rosendale Valley Inn turned back Wiltwyck Motors of the Y League 57-42, in a preliminary exhibition.

Chandler Visions Another Great Baseball Campaign

Santa Monica, Calif., March 18
(AP)—Organized baseball will have another great year and the talent will be the best since the war, says Commissioner A. B. Chandler. He prepared to leave tonight for the major league camps in Florida.

The commissioner was the principal speaker before 1,200 banquet guests here last night. The affair was the second annual baseball dinner staged by the local post of the American Legion in behalf of its junior baseball program.

Chandler, in another "report to the baseball fans," as he put it, predicted that last year's 60,000, 000 fan-attendance will be matched this year in organized baseball. He said the calibre of players will be the best since the war and within a few years will regain the pre-war level.

Tips to Sewers

Beginner-sewers should remember that fabric construction, not the kind of fibers used, determines whether a fabric is easy or difficult to sew. In selecting fabrics that will be easy to work with, look for medium-weight, firmly woven fabrics.

Participants in Third Bard Plan Panel

Prominent at Wednesday night's Bard Plan for Small Business Panel at Kingston High School Auditorium were Wilford White, United States Department of Commerce; Donald A. Moore, Poughkeepsie Trust Company; Louis Steketee, Kingston Chamber of Commerce; Waldo Ehlman, New York State Department of Commerce and Pratt Boice, Ulster County Savings Institution. (Freeman Photo)

are small. It is estimated that the nation had 3,500,000 small firms in operation as of January, and this, he said, "is a startling fact."

Less Than 2 Years Old

More than a million of these were less than two years old and more than 400,000 had not "celebrated their first birthday."

Prior to World War 2, he stressed, "when we had what we now recognize as peace and stability," about 1,000 new businesses "disappeared every calendar day," or from about 350,000 to 450,000 in 12 months.

The number remained "comparatively constant" in those years, he said, because "approximately the same number of new firms opened their doors as closed them."

Thus, the turnover of businesses was surprisingly high and represented a substantial annual loss to proprietors and auditors alike.

"These figures were cited, he said, "to illustrate the importance of management and judgment of management."

Causes of business failures commonly listed, in some of the old studies, he emphasized, were competition, lack of sufficient financing, and poor location.

"The chances are," he said, "that these terms were used frequently as substitutes for poor management."

Department of Commerce figures on 30 retail druggists in 1932, he reported, showed that 21 of the 30 which failed never made up profit and loss statements or balance sheets, four never took inventory, nine reported they did not know how to figure stock turn, and one allowed seven members of his family to take money indiscriminately from the cash register.

Causes of Bankruptcy

The speaker reported that results of another survey showed that major causes of bankruptcy were: insufficient management, unwise use and extension of credit, adverse domestic and personal factors and dishonesty and fraud. Their failure, he stressed, "was, therefore, a consequence of an unjustifiable entrance into business."

Time and thought, given to customers, is important to all business, Dr. White said, "because if the 143 million consumers in the United States did not need food, clothing, shelter and a lot of other things and services, we would not be here tonight to discuss business management."

It is important, he added, to know what is happening to the customer's purchasing power.

"If it increases more rapidly than prices, so-called luxuries can and will be purchased. If the opposite is true, the sale of luxuries and services will decline; even the quantity of necessities purchased may fall off."

Consumers have a changing amount of purchasing power in cash and credit, he said, and the great majority are changing their ideas on what they will do with it, depending upon what they have read, what they have seen and what they advertise or say to them.

Buyers today, he stressed, are "more intelligent than they were a generation ago," and they demand a wider selection of goods and services.

The speaker listed the automobile and general mechanical progress as top factors in changing the nation's buying habits. Others are the shorter work week and longer vacations. The latter, he stressed is helping to build a "relatively new industry . . . the outdoor amusement industry."

Those who would be measured as most successful in business, he said, have many or all of the following abilities: you like people and enjoy being with them; you have an idea of what these customers want; you know your community and take an active part in its material and spiritual progress; you know that your community extends beyond the city limits; you know that you must operate an up-to-date business, and your prices must be right.

Five Problems Stressed

Dr. White stressed five major management problems: prices, inventories, the trend toward broadened goods, a growing trend toward buying from fewer sources of supply, and mounting interest in the training of employers and employees in modern methods of doing business.

Important sources of information, the speaker said, are: your suppliers, equipment manufacturers, trade associations and trade or professional papers; your local Chamber of Commerce or your weekly luncheon club, reading and both the state and U. S. Departments of Commerce.

Dr. White stressed in conclusion: "Your management job, therefore, is to help your customers buy what they need and can afford at a time when they need it. The return in net profits and satisfaction from that type of operation is what keeps so many retailers in business and makes them the backbone in which they live, but of very important part."

Donald A. Moore talked on the financial problems in the management program of small business and stressed that "money is the life-blood of business."

Among financial hazards in small business, he emphasized the tying-up of too much capital in property, lack of intelligent estimating in the purchase of tools and equipment, too much inventory, lack of attention to accounts receivable, and thoughtless borrowing practices.

The small business man can gain much through comparing his methods with those of other businesses in the same line, the speaker said. He should devote study to the relationship between gross profits and sales and determine his "fixed overhead."

The Poughkeepsie banker warned that the business man should "play safe," and never attempt to stretch his capital too far, nor should he drain the business of its income to a dangerous point.

Common mistakes made in the start of small businesses, he said were: failing to realize soon enough that the business attempted lacked the possibilities of providing a living; that often too many attempt living off a small business; competition is not stud-

Three cars were involved in an accident early this morning at New Paltz but there were no injuries. The car of Daniel Stokes of Highland became stuck in a snow bank off the road about 6 o'clock and was left in that position by Stokes.
